Mid-West Rail
Strike To Start
This Afternoon

Five Thousand Employees Of Missouri Pacific Railroad Are Set To Strike

ELEVEN STATES
SERVED BY LINE

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Some 5,000 members of four operating brotherhoods are scheduled to strike the Missouri Pacific Railroad serving 11 states at 3 p. m. (EDT) today.

Talks aimed at averting or postponing the walkout failed and no new meetings are scheduled. In Washington President Truman told his news conference the government has exhausted nearly all its authority to prevent the work stoppage.

Each side blamed the other for the impending strike. In dispute were 282 claims by the unions involving $3,000,000. The claims involve interpretations of operating rules and some of them date back over a 10-year period.

Will Idle Thousands
The walkout will idle an estimated 20,000 to 22,500 other Missouri Pacific employees and hit hard at industries in some of the 1,100 communities served by the line. For some of those communities the Mo Pac is the only rail link with the rest of the nation.

The Missouri Pacific began making of track shortly after last halting operations along its 7,200 miles of line.

Schuylkill River
Being Cleaned Up

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The once inky Schuylkill river is now running yellow, according to the Fairmont Park Commission.

Commissioner John B. Kelly said the removal of tons of culm from the stream in dredging operations above Norristown was responsible for the "good job" of cleaning up the river.

Kelly added:

"This is the first time in 15 years the Schuylkill has been yellow and not an inky black."

One member of the Pa New family enjoyed freshly picked raspberries for his dinner Thursday evening. The berries came from the farm of A. F. Arnold, R. D. 1, Enon Valley. The Arnolds family is also enjoying strawberries from their patch and will do so until frost comes.

Workmen are making good progress on the Butler road with their blacktopping operations. The work got under way on Thursday and will require several days before completion. Curtailed traffic on the road due to the detour aids in the work. September 20 has been the date set for adding a coating of stone to the Highland Heights road which becomes very slippery during damp weather.

Strip mining operations in the Lawrence county area continue to be expanded. Several new locations have been noted recently where the stripping operations are getting under way.

Temperature this morning was decidedly fall like. Not only was the mercury under 50 degrees, but a heavy fog enveloped some parts of the city and county early this morning.

Pillar on the east end of the Public Square was broken by some motor vehicle last night, police report.

Bodies Of Two Missing
Pittsburgh Fliers Found

WARREN, Pa., Sept. 9.—(INS)—The bodies of two missing Pittsburgh Air Force fliers were found last night in their wrecked AT-6 plane seven miles southeast of Warren.

The discovery was made by William Streich, 18-year-old Warren high school boy, who led Sheriff L. E. Lender and a group of army officers to the scene.

The airmen, Lt. Joseph R. Walker, Jr., and Capt. William R. Parker, were believed killed instantly when their aircraft crashed into a wooded hill after running out of gasoline.

Tropical Storm
May Not Strike
Eastern Coast

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 9.—(INS)—The third tropical hurricane to roar across the Atlantic this year whirled northeastward today some 550 miles east of Norfolk, Va.

The tempest has picked up speed, and is moving forward at 20 miles an hour, carrying winds estimated to be 130 miles an hour in velocity.

Weather observers gave assurance, however, that the storm will not hit the United States coast line if it maintains the course it has pursued.

At 5 a. m. (EST) weather bureau advisory pinpointed the storm about 375 miles northeast of Bermuda.

Weather men said the storm at that time moved northeastward with hurricane force winds still fanning out from the center. These blasts reached out for 40 to 60 miles on the western side of the hurricane, and ships were warned they should avoid the storm's path.

Weather authorities predicted the hurricane will continue to move in a northeasterly direction.

'Peril Point' In Trade Bill May Gain Approval

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—GOP Floor Leader Wherry (R) Neb., said today that "sectionalism" on the tariff issue may turn the Senate in favor of the Republicans' "peril point" amendment to the reciprocal trade bill.

The peril point amendment would require the President to state his reasons to Congress if he reduces tariffs below a point deemed dangerous by the tariff commission.

A vote on this most important amendment is expected by the middle of next week — perhaps sooner.

Martin To Speak
Sens. Thomas (D) Okla., Butler (R) Neb., and Martin (R) Pa. are listed to speak today before the Senate quits for the week.

Those handling the reciprocal trade legislation on each side said they hoped to agree today on a provision to vote on the peril point amendment. Sen. George (D) Ga., (Continued on Page Two)

New Petrillo
Battle Looms

Jurisdictional Dispute
Threatens To Involve
Entire Entertainment World

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(INS)—A bitter jurisdictional dispute between President James C. Petrillo of the American Federation of Musicians and the 90,000-member Associated Actors and Artists of America today threatened to involve the entire U. S. entertainment world.

The long-smoldering argument came to a head last night when the executive board of the 4-A group, parent body of many performer organizations, voted unanimously to defy Petrillo, head of the 325,000-member AFL union.

Petrillo last week threatened to order orchestras out of night clubs, hotels, stage shows and cafes, in order to end what he called raids on his union by the American Guild of Variety Artists, a subsidiary of the 4-A body.

The musician's leader said he (Continued on Page Two)

Fire Leaves 150
Persons Jobless

MONTGOMERY, Pa., Sept. 9.—(INS)—A $250,000 fire today gutted a plant of the Montgomery Products company at Montgomery, and left 150 workers jobless.

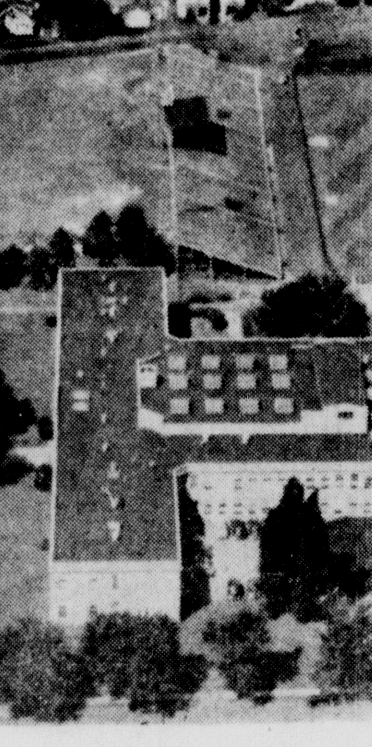

An explosion, apparently in the finishing room, rocked the Lyncoming county community this morning and barrels of lacquer, benzene and other inflammable materials stored in the room fed the blaze, which continued unabated for three and one-half hours.

Firemen from five adjoining communities battled the fire.

Louis Allison, plant superintendent, said the building was a complete loss. He estimated the damage at $250,000. He could set no estimate when the plant would be opened again to rehire 150 workers put out of work.

Rush Iron Lung
To Erie During Early Morning

Speedy Trip Is Made In Response For Life Saving Aid

YOUNG GIRL IS PLACED IN LUNG

Iron lung at the Jameson Memorial hospital was rushed at top speed to Erie Municipal hospital during early morning, in response to a plea from that city for immediate use of the lung in saving the life of a polio victim, a 13-year-old girl.

The appeal reached William R. Hanna, chairman of the Lawrence County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis Thursday evening. He immediately got into communication with Joseph F. Friedheim, director of the hospital, and arrangements were made to release the lung for the Erie service.

Fast Trip Made

The Mahoning Valley Freight company provided a fast truck, and Paul Keely drove the machine to Erie in quick time. The trip was started at 11:30 p. m. and at 1:30 o'clock this morning the iron lung was delivered to the Erie municipal hospital and placed in service.

It was found that city firemen in Erie were working over the polio victim using artificial respiration methods to keep her alive until the lung arrived.

Erie has three iron lungs and two more were needed last night due to prevalence of cases of polio, one of the additional being secured here.

Mr. Hanna explains that New Castle is not left without emergency protection due to the fact that the lung was taken to Erie, provision having been made to take care of any situation that may arise here.

Yugoslavia To Be Given Loan

First Loan To Be Advanced
By U. S. Will Be For $20,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The United States took on the Kremlin in an all-out cold war fight today when it approved a loan to Yugoslavia.

Announcement by the export-import bank that it would advance 20 million dollars to Marshall Tito's government met headlong with a Soviet decision to unseat Yugoslavia, its first Balkan convert to communism.

The immediate loan is regarded as only the first step in what may prove to be a long range program of weaning the Balkan satellites away from Moscow.

Any such program was expected to be undertaken with greatest caution. Officials have determined that they will not now give Yugoslavia any materials which would prove of military value to Russia.

$12,000,000 At Once
Of the $20 million loan, $12 million will be advanced immediately. This sum will be used to rehabilitate the mining industry of the country. Before the war Yugoslavia was a leading producer of such strategic items as bauxite, (Continued on Page Two)

Federal Employees
To Get Six And Half
Billions In Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The Byrd congressional economy committee said today that in fiscal 1949 more than 6.5 billion dollars will be paid federal employees.

The committee admitted, however, that the U. S. government payroll dropped one half of one percent last July.

The congressional committee, which makes monthly reports on "reduction of nonessential federal expenditures," placed the payroll figure for the fiscal year ending last June 30 at six billion, 516 million, 63 thousand dollars.

Over 40,000 Can Vote In County
Next Tuesday

Forecasts Of Political Leaders Indicate Lively Interest In Primary Battles

SHERIFF-COUNCIL
BATTLES FEATURE

Over 40,000 Lawrence county citizens have an opportunity to vote in the primary election Tuesday, September 13, but it is doubtful if half of them avail themselves of the opportunity.

Developments of the past week seem to indicate a larger vote than usual in primary elections due to local contests in various townships and boros. In the city of New Castle the interest in the election seems to be more or less apathetic.

43,873 Registered
The total registration of the county is 43,873. Of this number 30,281 are Republican and 13,221 are Democratic. The balance are registered in splinter parties.

What fighting for nominations there is is confined largely to the Republican party although there is a battle on in the Democratic ranks for sheriff and councilman nominations.

The Republicans have six candidates for the two nominations. They are in the order they will appear upon the ballot: Joseph D. Alexander, Joseph A. DeRobbio, William E. Erk, H. Ray Showalter, E. Gene Schweinsberg and James Gibson. Alexander and Gibson are the incumbent councilmen.

The four opposing them apparently settled upon one issue, opposition to the wage tax.

The fight for Democratic nominations for city council has developed into a bitter battle.

Camden Killer's Family
Rallies To His Defense

BULLETIN

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 9.—(INS)—Howard B. Unruh's heartick mother revealed dramatically today that the "Camden killer" threatened her with a wrench just before embarking on his wild murder spree which claimed 13 lives on Tuesday.

Distraught Mrs. Freda Unruh, prostrate at the home of a sister since the mass killings, said Unruh raised the wrench above his head and moved toward her, sending her terror-stricken from their home.

By TOM R. BRISLIN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 9.—Howard B. Unruh's heartick family today rallied to the defense of the "Camden killer," who last Tuesday calmly pumped bullets into 16 people, 13 of whom died.

His father, Samuel Unruh, termed his 28-year-old ex-artilleryman son, "a good boy."

The perpetrator of America's worst one-man massacre meanwhile was subjected to intense observation by psychiatrists at the New Jersey hospital for the mentally ill, in Trenton. A verdict of sane could send the Bible-reading Unruh to the electric chair. The county prosecutor has promised to press for the death sentence.

Even as the emotionless slayer's mind was being probed by doctors, his family gathered in Camden yesterday to issue a statement in his defense.

Other Camden families also assembled—to hold funerals for the victims of Unruh's deadly accurate German Luger pistol.

First Funerals

The first funerals will be those of shoemaker John Pilarchik, 27, Alvin M. Day, 24, a television repair man, and six-year-old Orris Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cohen and the former's mother, Mrs. Minnie Cohen, may also be buried today in Philadelphia.

At the Unruh family meeting yesterday, the slayer's mother, Mrs. Frieda Unruh, 50, trembling told of "the strange look" in her son's eyes just before he embarked on his killing orgy.

A thin, gray-haired woman, who seemed on the verge of collapse, she cried repeatedly:

"He didn't mean to do it. He didn't mean to do it. I'm sorry for everybody."

She told of running to the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert Wonsel, (Continued on Page Two)

State Department
Discloses Move
Ordered In China

American Consular Representatives Being Withdrawn From Communist-Held China

BRITISH WILL REPRESENT U. S.
(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The State Department today announced the withdrawal of most American consular representatives in Communist-held China.

The consulate in Hangkow was instructed to close and withdraw all its personnel. The staffs of the embassy in Nanking and the consulate in Shanghai will be reduced by about one-half when arrangements have been completed for evacuation from China of Americans who want to leave.

The State Department's announcement said that British consular officials will take custody of U. S. official property in Chinese areas where American officials are being withdrawn.

British To Serve

The department said the British representatives will afford the same protection to American citizens in China as is accorded British subjects.

Local American communities where U. S. representation is being withdrawn are being withdrawn.

Bromfield Says
Many Farmers
Not Good Farmers

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield had a few words to say about the nation's farmers and it wasn't all good.

"In fact, it was less than 50 per cent complimentary.

Bromfield, who had been mentioned as Thomas E. Dewey's choice for secretary of agriculture—had Dewey made the White House—declared that only about 10 per cent of the farmers are "good farmers."

He added that about 30 per cent "are pretty good," and that the remaining 60 per cent are "not farmers at all."

The sage of "Malabar," Bromfield's modernistic farm near Mansfield, O., was addressing a dinner meeting of the Friends of the Land, a soil conservation group holding its annual convention in Pittsburgh.

Bromfield further charged that the government's farm price support program was "about a good foundation. He said:

"The farm subsidies have kept in circulation thousands, possibly hundreds of thousands of farmers who would otherwise be doing productive work in factories."

He declared that the only farmers who want Agriculture Secretary Brannan's plan "are the 60 per cent who farm badly and aren't farmers at all."

"What you get for free," he exclaimed, "you pay twice for in taxes."

Truman's Statement
Gets Soviet Comment

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Sept. 9.—An official Soviet spokesman declared today President Truman has "assumed the pose of the Napoleon of the cold war" and said there is "no sense" in his prediction the Soviet Union will surrender.

David Zaslavsky, a chief editor of the Community Party newspaper Pravda, used Mr. Truman's White House press conference of Sept. 1 as the jumping off point for a strongly-worded editorial.

The Russian journalist chided the President on the meaning and use of words and insisted the term "capitulation" isn't in the Soviet dictionary. Zaslavsky wrote:

"No Sense Exists"

"In order to save the President's authority, the American papers are carefully looking for some sense in his words. The searchers are futile—no sense exists."

As to how the Soviet Union might capitulate, Zaslavsky said: "Capitulation" is not one of ours in the ideological and political struggle. Capitulation in any war is that concluding moment when a conquered army admits defeat and lays their arms at the feet of the victors."

He added:

"The cold war or war of nerves is not our term."

"Our nerves are in perfect order and we are not conducting any deliberate war."

So on with your baseball or other sports, I'll be on the fifty-yard line, where men are men and the sport is rough, it's about seventy and fine.

Organizations Join Polio Fund Drive In Nation

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Fifteen leading national organizations, representing some 16,000,000 Americans today, came to the aid of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis' emergency fund raising drive.

The foundation, headed by Basil O'Connor, is attempting to raise $14,500,000 in one week to help fight what may be history's gravest polio epidemic.

The National Foundation reported that states which have been hit hard by polio are throwing virtually every resource behind the drive. New York, Illinois, Texas, Indiana, and even areas that have escaped made numerous offers of assistance. Massachusetts residents have offered high polio tolls have offered generous aid.

It was emphasized by the National Foundation that the short duration of the impromptu drive makes it impossible to consider organizing a truly effective nationwide organization to receive offers of help. The Foundation merely repeated its request that all contributions be mailed to the simple address "Polio" care of local post offices.

Among the organizations pledging their help are the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Kiwanis International, Rotary International, Lions International, Loyal Order of Moose, B'nai B'rith, 4-H Clubs, and the Girl Scouts of America.

BIG PEACH CROP

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Pennsylvania and New Jersey this year have one of the most bountiful peach crops in history.

The bureau of agricultural economics estimated crop production, compared with last year, is slightly higher in Pennsylvania and approximately 60 per cent higher in New Jersey.

The bureau reported that the fruit of this year's crop, in comparison with other years, is of outstanding quality and condition.

mercury, copper, lead, zinc and other non-ferrous metals. During the Nazi occupation mining facilities were violently damaged. One of Tito's grievances has been the refusal of Moscow to assist in their rehabilitation. He has complained that Soviet Premier Stalin wished to reduce his nation to an agricultural adjunct of the Soviet Union, ignoring its well developed pre-war industry.

The loan comes at a time when Russia had been sabre-rattling along the Yugoslav borders. Unconfirmed reports said the several Russian armored divisions had been massed in Hungary. Russians in Belgrade had encouraged these rumors.

Officials in Washington do not regard these gestures as anything more than an intensified war of nerves. They feel that Moscow could not discredit its "peace offensive" by turning on one of its satellites whose only sin was not to take orders from Stalin in internal and international affairs.

NEW PETRILLO BATTLE LOOMS

would take this drastic step unless the AGVA stopped forcing musicians to participate orally in floor shows and stage shows, from paying a $50 initiation fee as actors. Petrillo charged his men were made to pay the sum even if all they said was "Hello"; the AGVA contended that many musicians serve as masters of ceremony for entire performances.

Paul Dulzell, president of the AAAA—which is also an AFL affiliate—said yesterday after the vote was taken:

"If Petrillo wants to start a fight which will involve the entire entertainment field, he can have it." Informed of the AAAA action Petrillo in a statement issued through his New York office, said he will "act in due time." This may mean that the pulling of orchestras from entertainment spots is imminent.

Profess Ignorance Of Reported Trip Of Jap To China

TOKYO, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Allied occupation and Japanese government officials professed ignorance today of a reported trip by former Japanese General Hiroshi Nemoto to China to aid Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in his anti-Communist war.

A spokesman for the Chinese mission in Tokyo said, however: "Apparently Nemoto must have 'mugged' himself out of Japan." Both the diplomatic section of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's occupation headquarters and the Japanese foreign office said Nemoto never had applied for a travel visa. An occupation official said: "As far as we know, he is still in Japan."

The question of the Japanese ex-general's whereabouts was raised by a London report that Chiang had named Nemoto to organize a last-ditch plan for the use of former Japanese flyers as aerial mercenaries against the Chinese Communists.

veloped two factions in the party and the battle is the first real primary battle the party has seen for some years.

Ralph Audino, Clair M. Ueber, Joseph Medure and James A. Travers are the candidates seeking the two nominations.

For sheriff each party has two candidates. Sheriff Frank L. Coen is running to succeed himself and is opposed by Benjamin E. Hartland. The Democratic candidates are C. Metheny Buzard of Ellwood City and Samuel Cutler of New Castle.

For register and recorder the incumbent, Orville Potter is a candidate to succeed himself and is opposed by Chief Deputy Prothonotary Elmer D. Nesbitt. The Democratic candidate is Edward E. McCaughy.

For district attorney the present assistant, Errol Fullerton, a candidate for the nomination and is opposed by Joseph Solomon. The Democratic candidate is Sherman K. Levine.

Jury commissioners are really elected at the primary. The law requires one from each of two major parties and each party has but one nominee. The Republicans have John Schneiderman, while the present Democratic incumbent Tad E. Shields will succeed himself.

City Controller William A. Moore is a candidate to succeed himself and is opposed by Gomer W. Emery upon the Republican ticket. The Democrats have but one candidate, Charles A. Kennedy.

Four Republicans seek the three nominations for school board. They are G. Ward Whittaker, Daniel B. Woolcock, Reva D. Gormley and Margaret Gaither Seal. This is for the regular six-year term. For the two-year unexpired term of C. Leroy Shira, William D. Coburn is unopposed.

The Democrats have three candidates for the three regular places. They are Joseph R. Hensley, Elizabeth A. Kleckner and Paul J. Cuba. For the short term Nancy D. Slater is a candidate.

Local Fights
There are a number of warm local fights for such offices as burgess, borough council, tax collectors and road supervisors. These can be found in Neshannock and Shenango townships, Ellwood City, Wampum and Bessemer. These fights it is thought will help to swell the total vote.

"I heard shots. I screamed because I had a feeling I knew who was firing those shots. But they told me 'someone's shooting rats'. I knew differently."

Unruh's father a dredge worker who was separated from his wife for some time, issued the following statement:

"It is a time some member of the family made a statement in defense of Howard. Howard is a good boy. He always had an urge to advance himself. He was a good pupil in school, quick to learn and went through all his grades with honor."

"As his father, I can't understand what could have possibly happened unless it was war nerves or war fatigue. Something must have snapped in his mind."

A report from the Veterans Administration said that Unruh served with an armored field artillery battalion, but had no proof that he was in close-quarter fighting. Unruh's former commanding officer has denied him as a competent, well-behaved soldier, who did not have many friends.

Thirteen separate murder warrants, one for each victim, have been filed against the six-foot veteran, who thus far has shown almost no sign of regretting his bloody shooting spree.

In explaining the move, State Department spokesman Michael McDermott said that the decision was based on the same consideration that caused the withdrawal of officials in Canton, the present Nationalist capital.

The State Department spokesman said the action is being taken because of what he described as the Communists' attitude toward representatives of foreign powers friendly to China.

Will Attempt To Play Piano For 100 Hours

VIENNA, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Henrich Tauber, Viennese cafe owner, next Wednesday will roll up his sleeves, give his favorite piano a few turns and sit down to try to keep the piano keys tinkling continuously for 100 hours.

Tauber is the world's marathon piano-playing champion. He also could qualify for the title of most confident man in Vienna.

He is not only sure of beating his piano marathon record of 89 hours and one minute, but of packing the hall with paying customers.

Tauber will have to cough up $150 a day for the hall which he already has rented.

While his backers were trying to gauge the box-office by figuring out the number of Viennese who have never had to listen to the piano-playing in the house next door, Tauber, almost too willingly, agreed to be interviewed.

He made an excellent impression by starting off with the statement that he hoped his attempt to better his own long distance mark would increase business at his cafe.

Tauber is now 49—18 years older than he was in 1930 when he lured the musician union's waiters who were on hand in Linz to witness his record-breaking performance.

Maine Physician Ends Prison Term; Protests Innocence

THOMASTON, Me., Sept. 9.—(INS)—A Maine physician who served eight years in state prison for the death of his physician-wife has launched today on a new life in Washington, D. C., still protesting his innocence.

Dr. Merrill E. Joss, 49, convicted of manslaughter in the bluejean death of Dr. Luverne Harris Joss, was released after serving the minimum term of a 10 to 20 year sentence, less time off for good behavior.

His release, Aug. 21, brought revival of comment from his friends in Richmond, where he and his late wife practiced, that the state still has not produced "the bearded stranger" who was seen near the Joss' home at the time of the tragedy.

The physician's parents make their home in Washington, where he returned after his release from prison. A condition of his parole prohibits his return to the practice of medicine.

The prosecution, at his trial, alleged Dr. Merrill Joss had become infatuated with a restaurant operator and had killed his wife to get her out of the way. The jury, however, failed to find him guilty of murder, but did find him guilty of manslaughter.

Dr. Joss was committed to prison on July 5, 1941. He was a model prisoner working in the infirmary. In 1946 Richmond citizens petitioned for his release but this was denied by Governor Horace M. Ladd and the executive council after relatives of the dead woman protested.

RETIREES AT 70

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Only the federal government could persuade William A. Rawlinson of Philadelphia to retire from his mailman's job at the age of 70.

Bill was glad he was going to get a $158-a-month pension, but as he explained, "it's just after all these years."

For when Bill joined the post office in the pensionless days of 1910, he added, "I figured that delivering mail was something a fellow would be able to do after old age caught up with him."

But Wherry threw cold water on their chances. He said he had been asked by several absent Republicans to object to any agreement this week. By Monday, he added, it might be "possible" to fix a voting time because many Senators now away will have returned to the capital.

Wherry said:

"The peril point amendment has a pretty good chance of carrying. Sectionalism comes into this thing quite a bit. There is support for it on both sides of the aisle."

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE

Interview which Geoffrey Crowther, editor of The Economist of London, has given to U. S. News and World Report, is more than informative reading. It holds a lesson which America must either heed or be prepared to suffer something of the fate which has overtaken England.

According to Crowther, there are three reasons for the caution with which British business moves in these days—reasons which help to explain why their country faces an economic crisis which is unmatched in its modern history.

English business, says the British editor, is afraid to expand and seek new markets because 30 years of unrelieved depression has created a feeling of timidity, because political support of labor unions by the government has brought about a hopeless uncertainty in industrial relations, and because excessive taxation has destroyed incentive and enterprise.

What about the United States? This country has not had so bad or so long an experience with business depression, but the other two factors which have brought England to the brink of ruin are plainly at work here. Nobody can deny that labor is blessed with the political support of the administration, from the President down. It is no less true that taxation, already high, must go much higher if the President succeeds even partially in establishing his welfare state and infinitely higher if he gets everything he wants.

All in all, the parallel is too close for comfort.

HOME WITH THE PLUNDER

They're coming back from Europe, the scores of thousands of Americans who have been swarming the continent in the greatest peacetime invasion launched from these shores since the war ended. They're coming back, and they're not returning empty-handed.

Their trunks and bags are full of the things they've bought—fuller than trunks and bags were in prewar years.

And what's inside? According to the customs agents, who get to see the contents, it's the same old stuff tourists brought home a decade or longer ago. Perfumes, watches, wearing apparel, antiques make up the great bulk of it. In 20 years there hasn't been much change. There's more, because the limit's now $400 a person instead of $100, but it's no different.

An air station manager reports that Americans seem to be bringing back more foreign dogs for pets and breeding. But that, if true, has escaped the attention of the customs men. Says one:

It's the same old perfume and trinkets for friends and wearing apparel for themselves. And usually they find they've paid twice as much for something in Europe as the price for the same article here.

Now that's a sour note. It does happen, and fairly often, that Americans fail to get full value for their money when they buy in Europe. In the sense that they could manage better on this side, that is. But there's the satisfaction of the knowledge that they got the thing-umbob for Aunt Kate in a Paris shop.

CALL FOR MODERATION

Senator Lucas, administration leader in the Senate, admits that government farm price supports have gone too far and that at the present rate the taxpayers will be so angry that the whole system will break down. It is hardly plausible that people will go on paying high prices for food and high tax rates to buy food and destroy it.

This brings up the question of what support the government should give to farm prices. Permitting farm prices to sink too low would put a strain on the entire economy. Contributing to conditions that led to the crash of 1929 was the fact that the farmer for nine years had not been receiving his fair share of the national income.

But what of the present situation? The government holds nearly a billion bushels of grain and is buying more at the rate of several million bushels a week. Potatoes, eggs, butter and other products are impounded and paid for by the taxpayer. No one can use these products. They go to waste to preserve a high price scarcity.

Soon hogs and perhaps cattle will be added to the list of government purchases. And many millions of acres of farm land will lie fallow as the government brings acreage controls to bear.

The nation is, as Senator Lucas now admits, rearing a structure which will collapse finally because of public anger. Farm policies of the government must be moderated before ruinous repercussions are felt by every part of the nation.

Trouble is usually produced by those who turn out nothing else.

The man who says every picture tells a story hasn't been to one of the movies we've seen.

An educator says young men no longer burn the midnight oil. It's banana oil nowadays.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

The pattern of Germany's new western Federation of States began to take positive form with election of Karl Arnold as president of the upper house and the certainty that Dr. Konrad Adenauer will be named chancellor.

Arnold was chosen at the initial meeting of the new parliament in the old university city of Bonn where Beethoven was born 200 years ago.

He and Adenauer were expected to direct the middle-of-the-road policies of a legislative body representing Germany's newest attempt to absorb and exercise a more or less Democratic form of government.

Both are members of the Christian Democratic Union, a direct descendant of the former Catholic Center party which played a dominant role in the history of imperial Germany and of the Weimar republic which followed the first World War.

Conditions Have Changed
Conditions have changed mightily since either of those eras.

The Christian Democratic Union of today is essentially a hold-over of conservative elements which opposed Adolf Hitler and his Nazi party. Its leaders, however, admit that their immediate predecessors committed a grave error by voting for an enabling act in the Reichstag which ultimately permitted the Fuehrer to obtain power.

But despite this nearly fatal lapse, United States occupation authorities apparently are satisfied that the Christian Democrats and other parties closely allied to them are the best bulwark today against either Communism or any dangerous new increase in Nationalism.

The CDU, as it is known today, traces its history back to a time when a group of Catholic deputies met in the Prussian Landtag (parliament) in 1822 and formed a political group of their own.

Six years later this group adopted the name of Center party. Its object was to combat disbelief and atheism and the Catholic clergy soon embarked upon a campaign to induce every Roman Catholic citizen to join the group.

Single German Center Party
During the Franco-Prussian war, when it seemed that an empire consisting of the German states without Austria and headed by a Prussian monarch was inevitable, all the Catholics of Germany combined to form a single German Center party.

This organization did not actually work against Bismarck and his Imperialist party. But it did bring pressure upon him and the Kaisers to further the interests and needs of the Catholic church throughout the world.

The religious conflict known as

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SCIENCE AND RELIGION

NEEDS CONFLICT

Many a youth in high school or college experiences an emotional shock when he hears remarks by a teacher, especially in science courses, which seem to the youth to contradict or ridicule the religious beliefs his parents hold and have taught him. Swayed by the prestige of the teacher, the youth may accept the teacher's word as the final word and suppose his parents are benighted.

In consequence, the youth may resolve silently to turn his back upon his parents' religious beliefs and teachings or he may openly tell his parents that their beliefs and teachings are hurt and mortified. Sometimes they are angered at the teacher and the child will engage in violent arguments with the youth, while the youth may assume a very superior attitude toward his parents, not only in relation to matters of religious beliefs and practices but concerning practically everything else. In consequence, the once trustful and companionable relationship between him and his parents will be seriously impaired or almost completely destroyed.

Period of Suffering

On the other hand the youth, especially if he is in silence, go through a long period of deep suffering over the conflicts between what he thinks are the facts and intelligent beliefs, on one hand, and his own beliefs on which he has been brought up and his loyalty to his parents, on the other. Sometimes he becomes mentally ill over the matter.

But some readers will ask: Would you expect a teacher in high school or college to teach what he didn't consider true or expect him to be a hypocrite? No. He should stick to his ideals and still avoid the harm to youths that is often done.

Facts and Theories

Let him present facts which have been proved without doubts to be facts. It's when he leaves facts and plunges into theories that he can do most harm. The moment he leaves facts he should make clear that what he is presenting is theory or opinion. Indeed, a true scientist does just this. How can he follow the true ideal of a scientist by purposely presenting theories with the knowledge that some of his listeners might accept them for established facts? Nor would we ask him to present theories or even his personal opinion, if he would warn his listening youths that there are other theories. We wish he would say to his students, "If my opinions or the theories I present disturb you or conflict with your religious beliefs, talk the matter over with your spiritual adviser, rabbi, priest or pastor." Certainly no teacher could morally justify deliberate efforts of his to ridicule religious beliefs.

In our public schools and tax-supported colleges any teacher who purposely attempts to destroy the religious beliefs of his students violates in principle the "freedom of religion" guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States.

the Kulturkampf which raged throughout Germany in the 1870's gave great impetus to the Center party.

This Catholic political organization was the spearhead of resistance to Bismarck's attempt to take the registration of births, deaths and marriages out of the hands of clergy, to make the celebration of marriage exclusively a function of the state and to abolish clerical supervision over schools.

Early Efforts Paralleled

Those early efforts in the arena of religious freedom have been paralleled most strikingly in modern times by the work of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary.

The World and the Mud Puddles

A CHRONIC HEADACHE

All forms of taxation are distasteful, but while most of them are accepted as a reasonable price to pay for the benefits received under government, some are levies which become actually obnoxious. Since the days of antiquity when publicans and sinners were classed together as the lowest stratum of society, no tax collector has had a chance in any popularity contest.

Of all taxing schemes conceived by the minds of legislators, by far the most irritating are excise or sales taxes commonly known by the appropriate title of nuisance taxes. Some of them such as the impost on liquors and tobacco have been in effect so long that there is little objection to them, but during the late war special sales taxes were imposed on many so-called luxuries to discourage people from buying such articles.

Thus theoretically channeling funds into productive purposes and investment in savings bonds. Curiously enough, scores of items, including electric light bulbs, railroad tickets, telephone and telegraph messages and even typewriters and baby oil were classed as luxuries and penalized accordingly. These special levies were to expire by limitation, month after the cessation of hostilities but they are still in effect, to the inconvenience and exasperation of the public.

Hold Off Purchasing
The business volume on manufacturers and dealers handling taxable goods has decreased in much greater degree than the average, since buyers, influenced by campaign promises and the public declaration of the Vice President that repeal was imminent, continue to hold off purchasing as long as possible. Clearly this is unjust discrimination against certain designated lines of business and the thousands of workers employed by them. Pump priming measures, such as public works and housing projects offer no relief to the unemployment problems of men and women skilled in making, repairing and selling the goods and services of the war. The war has been over for four years and it is high time that the stifling and unreasonable restraint on business and wages be removed. However, hopes for legislation to this end will not be realized in a long time to come.

As the Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee says there will be no action on the question at this session of Congress, and his word is law.

Loss of revenue by the repeal of the special excise taxes would be offset to a great extent by increased income and wage taxes and a decline in unemployment benefits, and a small percentage of the reduction in government spending promised us at the beginning of the present administration would solve the whole problem.

When Robert (Cal) Hubbard calls "Strike three!" and looks the baffled batter in the eye that's usually all there is to it—for he stands 6 feet 2½ inches and weighs 265 pounds. Born in Key-eteville, Mo., Oct. 31, 1900, he starred in football at Centenary college and Geneva. He turned pro football player in 1927 and the next year began his career as a baseball umpire. For the next ten years with the Green Bay Packers and New York Giants he starred on the pro gridiron. He also had a stint as football coach at Geneva. He has been an American League baseball umpire since 1936.

Why hold them here?

"Jet Development"

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Middle Ground For Gen. Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—In this politically conscious capital the speech that General Dwight D. Eisenhower made before the American Bar Association in St. Louis has been subjected to searching analysis. What Eisenhower did in that speech, as is clearly recognized here, was to stake out for himself a middle ground between President Truman and Senator Robert A. Taft.

The background of that speech is as revealing as what Eisenhower told the lawyers at their national convention. It goes back to a meeting in Eisenhower's high-ceilinged office at Columbia University shortly before the General left on a long vacation that was to take him to remote Colorado trout streams and the kind of seclusion that he has rarely had since he returned from Europe.

Could Get Nomination

The General's callers were a group of influential Republicans. They had come to tell Eisenhower their conclusion that he could get the Republican nomination for president and be elected president.

But—it was here that a certain solemnity, tension even, came into the conversation—they had a condition. This was that Eisenhower refrain from making statements or speeches with anything faintly resembling a political slant. In effect, the spokesmen for the group said:

"We'll elect you as a popular hero. It isn't necessary that they know what you think. Then after you're elected, we can proceed to do the things we have to do to get this country back on the right track."

The General did not take this very well. He told his callers what he has so often said before—that politics, as politics, has no interest for him. But more than that, he resented the implication that he should be presented to the voters as a package with fancy wrappings.

The Johnson Character

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—As a surprise element in national politics, there is nothing right now to match Louis Johnson, Secretary of Defense. He has fooled just about everybody by being and doing the unexpected. His appearance and mannerisms have helped to build up the surprise. Johnson is a huge fellow, loud of voice, quick of temper, full of ambition and skilled in partisan warfare. These forthright qualities have pictured him as a swag-hunting buccaner of a politician who must be expected to behave in that familiar manner.

But the reverse has been true. Johnson is the only Administration Democrat who has voluntarily got back on departmental vinding. He has acted more like a Robin Hood than a pirate, taking money from rich governmenteers and giving it back to needy taxpayers.

Disregard Of Privileged Toes

In addition, Johnson has displayed a refreshing disregard for the privileged toes he has stepped upon. Loud were the walls of indignation, for instance, from Senator Pepper of Florida, an Administration boondoggler, when Johnson recently closed some Defense installations and disemployed a flock of Pepper jobholders. Cabinet officers are supposed to know you can do that to a Democratic Senator who's running for reelection next year.

Still more recently Johnson had the praiseworthy impudence to deny government air transportation to some senatorial junketers who wanted to fly around the world. The toes he trampled this time belonged to Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, an all-weather Democrat, who has been continuously in Congress since 1922. You're not supposed to tread venerable statesmen that way, either.

What's getting into Louis Johnson? That's the question being bounced around Capitol Hill. The answer could be that nothing is getting into Johnson that wasn't there before. Most people just haven't understood the Defense Secretary. He is plainly not the flat character whom everybody took for granted. He's a much more complex man who, however, runs true to his own type.

Southern Democrat In Best Sense

His own type is that of a Southern Democrat, in the best sense, rather than of a New Dealer, in the worst sense. Johnson was born, raised and educated in Confederate Virginia. He moved across the hills into West Virginia as a young man, and this fact of residence has caused some confusion in the public mind. He is often bracketed in the ideological category with Harley Kilgore and M. M. Neely, West Virginia's pair of New Dealer Senators.

True, Johnson has played along in politics with these men, but the suspicion is that his heart belongs elsewhere. He worked and associated in youth with John W. Davis, the Clarksburg (W. Va.) attorney and 1924 Democratic presidential nominee. Davis was the law-partner and political associate of the late Philip St. George, a West Virginia politician of the same school of liberalism. Johnson's advancement in Democratic politics has been as a businessman's lawyer, a professional veteran and a Red-baiter de luxe. He has never fiddled around much with the public spenders, the leftists or the Laborites. He has stuck with the party through thick and thin—the Davis-Cox-Al Smith defeats as well as the Roosevelt-Truman victories. It would go hard against his Confederate grain to turn Republican. Unlike such Virginians as Harry Byrd and Carter Glass, he does not live in a one-party State where it's possible to run on a Democratic ticket while voting the GOP.

Behavior Becomes Understandable

Considered against this semi-Southern background, Johnson's behavior becomes understandable. Beneath his bluff exterior, there beats a heart that would have warmed to Jefferson Davis and John C. Calhoun. These old separatists were public servants in a long-forgotten sense. They believed in government as the protector of life, liberty and property, never as a horn of plenty for the voting masses. They expressed and perpetuated the fine traditions of Southern statesmanship which gave so much to American politics. For such it would be to compare Johnson with these great men, but he is better understood when his actions are related to their beliefs.

It would be equally foolish to ignore the practical and self-interested side of the Johnson character. Both the 80th and the 81st Congresses have shown a strong will toward cutting the expense of government. Come 1952, the Republicans must almost certainly nominate a candidate with record for economizing. Won't the Democrats, then, have to do likewise? If so, that'll be the happy day for Louis Johnson.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Here in my state of Konnektikut there has never been any evidence of the Ku Klux Klan, so that its unmasking as recently decreed in some of the Southern states wouldn't make any personal difference.

But I do believe that now that the brave Klansmen, of Alabama for instance, are no longer allowed to wear masks, the Klan will soon disappear completely by sheer force of ridicule.

At Pell City, Alabama, a Klan parade has been called to listen to an address by Dr. Lycurgus Spinks, one of its chiefs.

A thousand participants had been expected, but only fifty-eight turned up.

In their usual mystifying fashion they assembled on a mountain side near the little Alabama textile town.

The chief of the Klavern warned the Kluxers not to pay any attention to any snide remarks that might be made by the crowd. "Just remember who they are," he said, "and we will take care of them later."

A sixteen kar motokade moved in and out of town prior to the parade. A couple of Klansmen, waving American flags, were perched on the fenders of the lead kar. It was an attempt to recruit new members, but, according to reports, the fellows dressed in their nightshirts looked so funny without masks, that the drive was considered a complete failure.

Instead of being awed by the spectacle, the onlookers just laughed and made the paraders look like kockeyed komic karacters.

The best way to kill anything foolish here in America is to ridicule it out of existence.

I don't say that that applies to everything.

A Hitler, a Stalin, an epidemic, a depression cannot just be eliminated by making fun of it.

Ridicule presumes a sense of humor and unless the ridiculee can see how funny he is as he is being ridiculed it wouldn't do the ridiculous much good.

Shroyer Knows About Practice

Former State Highways Secretary Acquainted With "Influence Peddlers"

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Former State Highways Secretary John U. Shroyer says he knew what it is to be approached by "influence peddlers" during his term at the state capitol during the Martin administration. Shroyer is a Shamokin dressmaker and weekly newspaper publisher. Writing in his editorial column Shroyer said the proffered gifts—which were "smilingly refused"—ranged from a quart of whiskey to an automobile. In return, Shroyer wrote, the Indian-givers would expect special favors. "I had the experience of a certain small politician who had the word passed around that he had to be seen first if any favors were to be expected from my office," Shroyer recalled. "It did not take long for me to put him in his place as soon as I found out what he was doing." Shroyer's dislike for those he called "peanut politicians" was evident during his tenure and it was not softened in his unsuccessful campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1946. Shroyer's refusal to accept political discipline in 1946 and pull out of the primary prompted Governor Martin to boot him from the cabinet 10 months before his term ended.

A national magazine plans a piece on Governor Duff some time this winter. The writer spent some time at the state capitol reading newspaper clips and talking with several people. The governor is a colorful personality well aware of the swath he is cutting in political circles. He enjoys immensely the speculation he has sparked whether in 1950 he will seek the U. S. Senate seat now held by Francis J. Myers, of Philadelphia. The governor has been told in one quarter that he could defeat Myers next year with organization support.

The department of forests and waterways encroachment division is an agency with a high-sounding name but in reality one of the more important units charged with maintenance of conservation. It is safe to note that without the division's watchfulness, floods would be more frequent. Since 1913, the division has been authorized to issue permits for man-built encroachments on waterways. An encroachment is an obstruction which changes the course current or cross section of a stream. The division is charged with authorizing only those encroachments for the public welfare and which minimize danger, especially by floods. Since 1913, the division has issued more than 20,000 permits. Encroachments erected prior to the division's establishment contributed to floods by narrowing channels and stream beds. The board makes certain encroachments do not add to the threat of floods.

The political pot is boiling in Cumberland county where Governor Duff's arch enemy, Republican State Sen. George M. Wade, of Camp Hill, has been the kingpin. The administration has bypassed Wade's lieutenants in the matter of job sponsorship and looks to County Chairman George Kunkle for leadership. The Kunkle faction is no slouch when it comes to suggesting to state employees the propriety of considering voluntary contributions to the GOP campaign fund. One payroller said the scale is one per cent up to $2,000, one and a half per cent for those state workers earning between $2,000 and $3,000 and two per cent for those receiving more than $3,000. Wade is not disposed as yet to test the governor's strength but there appears to be a fight shaping up which will demand the governor's full attention. In addition, Duff has been assailed by Republican State Committeeman Amos L. Gelnett, of Newport. Gelnett is angered by administration opposition to his candidate for judge in the Perry-Juniata district and a three-cornered race is on for the GOP nomination.

NEARLY 200 MILES OF NEW PAVEMENT

HARRISBURG—Although nearly 200 miles of surface has been laid by contractors this season, another 260 miles remain to be completed under contracts now in force, the State Highway department announced today.

During the first three weeks of August nearly 40 miles of surface were laid under the several hundred contracts then in force.

Shirley May France Plans Return Home

Leaves English Channel For Visit To London Before Flying Home

DOVER, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Shirley May France left the English channel behind today and tearfully departed for London for a three-day vacation before returning to the United States, home and school.

The 17-year-old Somerset, Mass., girl embraced her Dover friends and the staff of the East Cliff hotel before departing. She declared: "Good luck. I'll see you next year."

Shirley May has already booked accommodations at the hotel for next summer when she plans to make another attempt to swim the English channel. Her first attempt, last Tuesday, was ended when her father had her pulled out of the water seven miles from the British coast. She was suffering from cold and exhaustion.

Her present plans call for her departure from England by air Monday night. She is expected to land at Idlewild Airport in New York, and then proceed to her Massachusetts home where a celebration has been prepared.

Declares Decree Of Pope Pius Is Bound To Fail

Ukraine Delegate To U.N. Gives Expression To His Beliefs In Security Council

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Sept. 9.—(INS)—Dimitri Manuisky of the Ukraine declared in the United Nations today that Pope Pius' recent ex-communication decree against Communist supporters and regimes is bound to fail.

The former leader of the Comintern, predecessor of the present Cominform, said in the Security Council that "whoever thinks that the ex-communication decree can succeed is bitterly mistaken."

Manuisky excoriated the Western powers in the Security Council for refusing to accept for U.N. membership all thirteen applicants on file and branded this a violation of the Charter and of the Balkan Peace Treaties.

In that connection, he asserted that the Soviet bloc is not fighting against religion but against those "trying to turn religion into a tool of extremely reactionary politics." Manuisky pressed his attack against the three major Western powers by accusing them of interfering in the domestic affairs of Roumania, Bulgaria and Hungary. He denied that these governments are suppressing human rights and said they are fighting against "Fascist elements" hatching plots against the "democratic" governments.

Landscaping New City Building Plot

Fox In Charge Of Work Being Done To Beautify Grounds At New Building

Owen Fox, who is in charge of city parks, has already commenced landscaping ground surrounding the new city building at North Jefferson and Grant streets.

At present, good dirt which was placed between the building and the sidewalk, is being graded.

After grading is completed Kentucky Blue, Cheving Fescue and Red Top grass seed will be sowed.

Two types of Yew trees, a species of hardy Evergreen, will be planted near both Grant and North Jefferson street entrances.

One species will be the tall type and the other of the spreading type.

Six Yew trees will be planted on the Grant street side. Three will be on each side of the entrance.

Four of the same type will be planted on each side of the North Jefferson street entrance.

On the south side of the structure will be a flower bed, placed between the driveway and the building proper.

Funds To Allow Improvement Of Historic Sites

HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff today approved allocations totaling $112,100 for improvements and additions to three Pennsylvania historic sites.

The allocations represent funds appropriated by the legislature to the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission.

They are: $25,000 for the purchase of additional land at Washington Crossing Park near Morrisville, Bucks county; $40,000 for exterior restoration of buildings at Ephrata Cloister, Lancaster county; and $47,100 for the complete restoration of Pottsgrove Mansion at Pottstown, Montgomery county.

Washington Crossing Park commemorates the crossing of the Delaware river on Christmas night, 1776, by George Washington and his Colonial Army to engage the British and Hessians in battle at Trenton, N. J.

Ephrata Cloister includes the surviving buildings of Pennsylvania's first religious experiment in communal living started by the Seventh Day Baptists.

The Pottsgrove Mansion served as Washington's headquarters in September, 1777, shortly after his defeat in the Battle of Brandywine.

Although the eagle is the national bird of the United States, it is in disrepute in Alaska, due to its being responsible for destroying a very large portion of the salmon crop.

George Washington had five brothers and sisters, all of whom he outlived.

Madonna Sodality Meets Thursday

Madonna Sodality of the Madonna church in the Oakland district, met on Thursday evening in the church, for the monthly meeting, at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting was opened by prayer by the spiritual director, Rev. Fr. Phillip Francis. New moderators, Sister Ignasius and Sister Domenick, were introduced.

Reports were heard from the various committees and were given by Eleanor Glasser, Stella Gorgasz, Dolly Duda, Ann Maslyk, Joann Gorgasz. Plans were discussed for a dance on November 26 and plans were also furthered for future meetings. A bowling team will be organized in the near future. The next meeting is to be announced.

The only important river wholly within the United States whose course is in a northerly direction is the St. Johns River in Florida. Nearly all the rivers in North America flow in a southerly direction or into streams that flow southward.

Pilots Refuse To Quit Port

Persist In Landing At Abandoned Airport Of Bettis Field, Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Private pilots are a hard lot to convince.

Westinghouse scientists picked Bettis airport near Pittsburgh as the site for its new atomic power division.

But fliers still persist in using the abandoned airport. Since April some 33 planes have landed on the two abandoned runways at Bettis, despite the encircled crosses painted on the runways and the red flag flying from the wind sock as prescribed for closed airports.

Recently the words "danger closed" were painted in letters five-feet high to warn aviators who do not recognize the closed signs.

"Still they come in," a company employee said. "And the offenders range from rookies to veteran pilots."

Odom Was Visitor
He said that Bill Odom, the round-the-world flier who was killed at the Cleveland air races, was one of the unexpected visitors last month. Odom had said he landed to refuel and didn't see the warning signs until it was too late to pull up.

But what has been just an annoyance thus far is about to become a threat to the life and limb of fliers.

A spokesman said that the company has begun to dig ditches from two to four feet wide across the runways as part of the construction job on the new building now going up in the center of the field.

Cause of the mistake by airmen is blamed partly on outdated air-maps, and unless they bring their maps up to date one day soon they may find themselves landing in the middle of an atomic energy project.

GAMES AND COLDS
Mary Jane went to the game and caught cold. What do you suppose really happened?

Did she sit in a draft? Did she get excited and unbutton her coat?

Did she forget to wear her rubbers? Poor Mary Jane doesn't know what happened.

She was in a crowd. How many people had a cold? Did any one cough or sneeze or talk when she was near by?

How many other people had a cold after the game?

What kind of a game was it? If they played football, perhaps some of the players got excited. Maybe they got wet too. Did any of them get a cold?

Colds are very commonplace. Every body know about them but not much. A cold is usually blamed on something.

Perhaps people had colds before football or basket ball were invented.

Grandad knew about a rabbit's foot or a buckeye when he was a boy. He didn't hear about cold cures over the radio. He kept a buckeye in his pocket just to be on the safe side.

State Jobless Rolls Decline

HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's jobless rolls declined slightly during August and the trend is expected to continue until the winter-long slack season begins.

The Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation today reported that the state's jobless lists dipped from 477,000 in July to 450,000 at the end of August. At that time 4,260,000 Pennsylvanians held jobs.

Director A. J. Caruso pointed out that the unemployment situation is "slightly improved" compared with conditions which existed during the early summer months when heavy industrial cut-backs were initiated. The situation still is far below conditions of last January when only 290,000 were out of work while 4,286,000 held jobs in the states.

"The picture is a little better," Caruso said. "We are not receiving as many new applications for unemployment compensation, indicating that employment conditions are easing."

1950 Opening For New 16-Acre Park

HARRISBURG — Sixteen acre "Shady Rest Lake" park opposite Hulmeville, northeast of Philadelphia at the junction of State route 513 and 113, will be formally opened to the public in May, 1950, says the State Department of Commerce vacation and recreation bureau.

The tract contains a 2,000 foot frontage on the Neshaminy creek and includes a five acre lake.

Facilities for lake and creek fishing, bathing, picnicking and outdoor cooking will be provided in the park.

To Open Bids On New Building At Westminster

New 12-Unit Faculty Apartment Building Will Be Erected

Bids will be opened Saturday on a 12 unit faculty apartment building soon to be constructed by Westminster college.

The building will be located on the upper campus of the college. It will consist of a two story brick, steel, and concrete structure.

Individual faculty units will range in size from the small efficiency type apartments to five room units consisting of two bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen and bath.

Probe Hubbard Mystery Blasts

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 9.—(INS)—Police today were puzzling over a series of mysterious blasts that had damaged two homes in nearby Hubbard so far.

The most recent explosion, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wissinger, broke windows, collapsed the front porch and a part of the roof.

The elderly couple, who were asleep in a back bedroom at the time of the blast, escaped injury.

Another explosion on Aug. 13 occurred in the cellar and living room of C. W. Kirwood, who lives just 100 feet from the Wissinger home.

Authorities who said there is no natural gas in the district, expressed the opinion the blasts may have been caused by some kind of bomb.

Further Plans For Anniversary

Extensive Plans Made By Third Church For Anniversary Service
October 2 To 9

Plans for the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the Third U. P. church in October are rapidly taking shape, the pastor, Dr. J. Paul Graham, announced today.

Committee chairmen along with members of the general committee were named today by Dr. Graham who is general chairman of the golden anniversary celebration which will take place in the church from October 2 to 9 marking 50 years since the founding of the church.

Workers have been busy engaged since last Monday in washing down the auditorium of the east side edifice and before their task is completed every room and vestibule in the large building will have been cleaned. Other work is planned to prepare the building for the important milestone in the history of the congregation.

The congregation is looking forward with eagerness to the celebration, which will not only attract former ministers of the church, but many former members who have moved to other cities but have maintained an interest in the activities of their former associates in the church.

Opening evening in the week-long celebration will be the observance of world-wide Communion Day on Sunday morning, October 2, while the second important service in the anniversary will be the dedication of the new building on Thursday night, Dr. J. I. Moore, synodical superintendent of missions, will be the speaker, while greetings will be brought by Rev. J. A. Crawford, Dr. Jackson, Mayor John F. Haven and others.

Congregational night, which is slated for Thursday evening, October 6, will be featured by a dinner at 6:30 o'clock. Charter members of the church will be honored. Final service of the interesting event is planned for Sunday, October 9, when S. B. Copeland, former pastor, will be heard in the morning and Rev. C. R. Thayer in the evening.

Committees Named
The following committees, who met in session in the church on Thursday evening, have been chosen to steer the anniversary event: general committee, Dr. J. Paul Graham, chairman, Mrs. P. D. Gibson, Mrs. J. A. Wilson, Mrs. J. H. Kocher, Miss Dorothy Craig, Miss Mabel Kocher, R. J. Benson, W. C. Williams and Kenneth Taylor.

Chairmen of the other committees follow: historical records, Mrs. Mabel Huffman; decorating, Mrs. J. J. Kennehan; music, Roy Strobel; finance, Bernard Hook; anniversary booklet, W. H. Schoenfeld; publicity and invitation, Miss Helen Book; ushers, Gerald Potter; young people, Miss Alina Lutz; Bible school, Mrs. P. D. Gibson; reception, A. J. Minnick; refreshments, Mrs. Ira Alford, and transportation, Howard L. Reynolds.

Controversy On Aid To China Is Not Halted Yet

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Connally (D) Tex., today challenged Senators favoring aid to non-Communist China "to take what we offer" or nothing.

The Texan announced he—and it was understood, the State Department—would agree on an amendment to the arms-aid bill to provide from 50 to 75 million dollars to be used by President Truman to check Communism in the Far East.

But, Connally stressed, he would not agree to mentioning China by name in the amendment.

Sen. Knowland (R) Calif., said he could not accept a proposal that omitted China. He said, moreover, that 75 million dollars would "not do the job" of halting the Reds in China.

The two clashing views were expressed as the combined Senate foreign relations and armed services committees went into another closed door huddle on the China issue and the administration's arms-for-friends bill.

Both sides expressed hope they could arrive at a show-down. However, this is the 19th closed door session on a bill that originally was to have been disposed of quickly.

Connally told newsmen: "If they (the pro-China aid bloc) want to get anything, they better take what we have to offer them."

Bridges Expected To Shrink-Stretch

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 9.—(INS)—Bridges which stretch or shrink in time with the temperature will become a part of New Jersey's first parkway in Union and Middlesex counties.

Although steel, concrete and stone are to be used in the bridge construction, the "rubber" feature will relieve stress at the abutment base when heat expands the cold members or cold causes contraction.

The new parkway, Route Four, is scheduled for completion along a ten mile stretch by the end of 1949.

'BODIES' REVIVED
MT. CLEMENS, Mich.—The sheriff's department cruised Lake St. Clair for four hours looking for a "boat drifting with two bodies in it." The boat was located finally but the "bodies" turned out to be two sleepy fishermen who had lain down for an afternoon's nap.

JUMPING JACK LANDS TWICE

JACK NILES, who first gained attention by leaping from the San Francisco Golden Gate bridge, has gone and done it again. This time, Jack parachuted from New York City's George Washington bridge and landed (1) in the waters of the Hudson river and (2) in the toils of the law. Chatting with an officer at Fort Lee, N. J., police station, Jack reveals his future plans—he hopes to hop off the spire of the Empire State building. (International Soundphoto)

Three Slayers To Make Appeal For Clemency

HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Three condemned slayers will appeal for clemency September 20 when the State Pardons Board resumes hearings.

The board will hear clemency appeals from George A. Neill, 22, of Philadelphia, and James Smith, 23-year-old Philadelphia Negro, both scheduled to die September 26.

The board will hear the appeal of Edward Hough, 34, of Philadelphia, slated for October 31. The three appeals from the death sentence heard a list of 118 cases which will be heard by the board September 20 and 21.

Smith was sentenced to death early this year for the fatal shooting of John J. Haines, Philadelphia taxi driver, during a hold-up Jan. 14, 1948. His appeal to the State Supreme Court was rejected.

Neill was sentenced to the electric chair a year ago for the strangling of his 11-year-old niece, Isabella Mallon, in a woods near Philadelphia home. The State Supreme Court January 19 upheld the trial court decision which had rejected Neill's plea of insanity.

Hough, who has received seven respites, was convicted with two companions for the fatal shooting of Patrolman Cecil Ingling during a Super Market hold-up Jan. 30, 1947. He originally was sentenced to die March 29, 1948.

His accomplices in the slaying, David Almeida and James F. Smith, 24, were convicted of first degree murder. Almeida was sentenced to death while Smith received a life term.

TRIPPED BY SPELLING
DETROIT. William Murray, 22, will have three to 14 years in prison to learn how to spell "ninety." A clerk became suspicious when Murray wrote it "ninty" on a $90-check made out to himself. Murray admitted stealing blank checks from auto companies and filling them in to suit himself. He was sentenced by Recorder's Judge Gerald W. Groat.

BLIND ARE AIDED
Blind pedestrians have the legal right of way over motorists in 16 American states.

Both sides expressed hope they could arrive at a show-down. However, this is the 19th closed door session on a bill that originally was to have been disposed of quickly.

Connally told newsmen: "If they (the pro-China aid bloc) want to get anything, they better take what we have to offer them."

Cripps Taking British Crisis To People Of U. S.

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Sir Stafford Cripps takes Britain's desperate financial crisis to the American people today.

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer is chief speaker at a National Press Club luncheon. It will be his first public statement since he arrived in this country Tuesday.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin will attend the luncheon but is not scheduled for any formal remarks, despite the fact that political questions to be discussed later may overshadow the current financial talks.

The foreign and finance ministers participating in the talks—representing the United States, Canada and Britain—met twice yesterday. After the morning session they gave an indication of their thinking by announcing the formation of four working groups to develop statistics and other information for their guidance.

MAN STRIKES TWICE
ST. LOUIS—Fred Geiser, fireman, was answering an alarm so he didn't bother to stop when his fire truck hit an auto. When the fire was out, he returned to the scene of the crash to survey the damage and struck another auto on the same block.

Ben Jonson, great English dramatist, began his career as a bricklayer.

Ticklish Business

DEMOCRATIZING a new messenger displayed at National Dietary Foods convention in Chicago, Sylvia Arkin shows how to dissipate that fatigued and forty feeling by running vibrator along an ordinarily inaccessible spot on back to send infra-red rays coursing along tired nerves for relief. ZOO GETS NICE PETS

SAN DIEGO—This city's famous zoo has added two rhinoceros iguanas. The rare animal is a dragon-like lizard and these two were brought from Haiti. It is approximately three feet long and has three sharp horns on its snout and a row of sharp spines along its back. It is vicious by nature, continually lashing its tail from side to side.

Seek Extension On Deadline For Ford Co. Strike

DETROIT, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Threat of a nation-wide strike next week by 100,000 Ford Motor Co. employees lessened today with a report that Ford and the UAW-CIO are seeking extension of a September 13 strike deadline.

Informed sources said a joint appeal for more time to negotiate union demands for pensions, and a fourth-round pay boost will be made to the state labor mediation board.

Under board rules, the union must call a strike within 30 days of the date the walkout was authorized. Strike authorization was voted by 60,000 Ford employees effective August 13.

Noel P. Fox, mediation board chairman, indicated last week, however, that he would waive the 30-day rule if it would aid in reaching a peaceful settlement.

The UAW has requested similar state-conducted strike polls, necessary under Michigan law, of 50,000 Chrysler Corp. workers and 25,000 employees of the Briggs Manufacturing Co.

Negotiations at all three companies marked this week as both sides awaited the report of the president's fact-finding panel in the steel dispute.

MONTREY, Calif.—A local restaurant, involved in a labor dispute, placed this sign in its window: "Picket on duty will be served free meals. Place order with waitress."

Some Unemployment Areas Likely To Be Out Of Critical Zone

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Government officials said today a sharp increase in industrial employment probably will result in the removal of some communities from the White House list of 32 critical unemployment areas.

Experts working on the problem expressed confidence that "some" of the areas would be removed from the list when more complete information is made available later this month.

The 32 areas, selected by a group working under presidential assistant John R. Steelman, have been designated as critically in need of federal procurement contracts to stem rising unemployment and stimulate business.

Another Phase
The Commerce department, meanwhile, was disclosed to be nearing completion of another phase of the government-wide program which was ordered by President Truman in July to combat the jobless wave.

Officials said that machinery has been set up in 12 out of the 32 areas to receive latest information on federal contract awards. Establishment of officers in 11 other areas is nearing completion and nine others will be in operation "very shortly."

These developments came after the Census bureau reported that employment reached a 1949 high of 59,947,000 in August, as the number of jobless dropped 406,000 to 3,689,000.

Industrial employment jumped 1,368,000—a cause for optimism among some economists. But farm employment decreased by a like amount.

Healthy World Economy Need Declares Cripps

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Sir Stafford Cripps, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, warned today that there can be no hope of a sound strategy of defense for the Western nations without a healthy world economy.

The British official, who is attending Anglo-American-Canadian talks in Washington on Britain's financial crisis, said that no political arrangement could be effective unless it has a sound defense strategy.

Cripps, accompanied by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, told a luncheon at the National Press Club:

"It's a truism—which no doubt your chiefs of staff have repeated as have ours—that a sound strategy of defense can only be based upon a stable and healthy economy, and without a sound strategy of defense no political arrangement can be effective."

Returns Safely After Bicycling Through Austria

VIENNA, Sept. 9.—(INS)—A 22-year-old Brooklyn ex-GI who disappeared in the Soviet zone of Austria Monday returned safely to the Western Zone today.

American military authorities said Sidney Schwartz was unharmed.

Schwartz disappeared after telling a hotel clerk that he was going to bicycle into the Soviet zone. The clerk said Schwartz refused to go by way of the Elms bridge, the only legal entry for Americans to the Russia-controlled area.

Military authorities said Soviet guards at Unfair let him through although the town is not an authorized checkpoint. The New York University student cycled unimpeded through the zone with an American flag flying from his handlebars.

Schwartz said he was unaware of the furor he had caused until he saw the newspapers in Vienna.

Polio Victim Is Flown From India For U.S. Treatment

Seven Thousand Mile Trip Made
For Treatment For Young Girl
Stricken In India

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass., Sept. 9.—(INS)—A blonde, blue-eyed little girl, flown to the United States from India for treatment for polio, was reported in "fair" condition today at the station hospital.

Kathy Halloran, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Robert P. Halloran of Syracuse, N. Y., was flown 7000 miles to Westover from New Delhi, India, where her father is American air attaché, she will be transferred to the Army General Hospital in Waltham by ambulance.

The child, unable to sit up because of paralysis of her back muscles and left leg, was accompanied on the flight by her parents, her sister, Maureen Lee, 6, and her brother, Christopher, nine months.

The father said Kathy apparently was stricken five weeks ago but that her case was not diagnosed as polio until last week. He said an infantile paralysis epidemic evidently has started in New Delhi, with Kathy as one of the first victims.

On arrival here, Kathy was carried off the plane by Lt. Jane Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., the flight nurse. She was taken to the station hospital in an ambulance.

Colonel Halloran was to accompany Kathy to Waltham today while the mother and other children return to their home in Syracuse.

Unemployment Shows Decline

Commerce Department Estimate Shows First Decline in Nation Since April

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The Commerce Department estimated that unemployment in August totaled 3,689,000 persons, representing the first decline since April.

At the same time, the department reported that total employment during the month surged to a record 1949 high with 59,947,000 persons at work.

The seven-year peak in the number of jobless established in July when 4,095,000 persons were out of work.

The increase in total employment reflected a sharp rise of 1,368,000 in industrial employment but was offset by a corresponding decrease in farm employment.

Commerce Secretary Sawyer commented: "The marked increase in non-agricultural employment and the more than seasonal decline in unemployment confirm other accumulating evidence of a leveling off of the recent downward adjustment in our economy."

"The decline we have experienced earlier this year in business activity has been moderate. We still have a high level of production, employment and sales and while the amount of unemployment and part time employment is a matter of concern, particularly to the families affected, we are in a fundamentally sound condition for continuing our economic advance."

Generally, figures of employment and unemployment decline in August as a result of seasonal factors. Last month, however, the total number of persons employed increased by 227,000 over July, tending to strengthen statements by economists that business conditions are improving.

Sawyer said that the rise in industrial employment last month was "one of the largest recorded for a single month in the past several years."

The commerce secretary declared that there is evidence that many of the additional industrial workers were drawn from the ranks of the unemployed and a substantial number were persons who had been engaged in farm work in July.

He added, however, that despite the increase, industrial employment was still about one and a quarter million below the all-time high reached a year ago when 58,601,000 were on the job.

Highway Dept. Safety Record

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania's record breaking highway construction program has scored another first—lowest accident rate in the nation during the period 1946-

48, the National Safety Council reported today.

This leadership was attained in highway construction groups employing more than 500 employees. F. E. Goodhart, safety engineer of the state highway department, announced.

Within the state, District 9 had fewest accidents. It includes Bedford, Blair, Cambria, Fulton, Huntingdon and Mifflin.

It was closely followed by District 1, which contains Crawford, Erie, Forest, Mercer, Venango, Warren and Lawrence.

District 8 composed of Adams, Cumberland, Franklin, York, Dauphin, Juniata, Lancaster, Lebanon, and Perry, was third, and fourth was District 6—Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery and Philadelphia.

RED CABBAGE

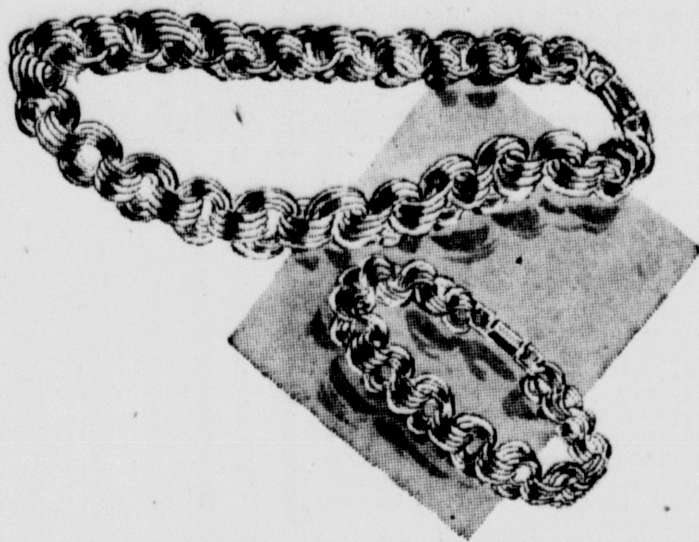

Sweet and sour red cabbage makes an excellent accompaniment for baked, broiled or fried fish. Use lemon juice or cider vinegar for the "sour" taste and try brown sugar for the "sweet."

RELIEF DATA

HARRISBURG — Although Pennsylvania's General Assistance rolls continued to rise during the week of August 20, the increase during the week amounted to only 228 persons—a substantial drop from the rate of increase during the previous week when 1,499 persons were added to the rolls. As a result of the latest changes in the assistance rolls, a total of 364,140 persons are now receiving public aid in the state. Of these, 75,193 are receiving General Assistance, 93,562 are recipients of Old-Age Assistance, 180,065 are members of families receiving Aid to Dependent Children, and 15,320 are Blind Pensioners.

President Truman To Keep Silent About '52

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—President Truman will "keep 'em guessing" about his 1952 political intentions for a long, long time to come.

The chief executive has no intention of answering the $64 question until the Democratic party heat is boiling after the turn of the year in 1952. He may wait until three months before the Democratic convention.

This correspondent can disclose that Mr. Truman has made no decision, one way or the other, as yet. Events during the next three years will determine his decision whether to run or not to run.

Mr. Truman will be 68 on May 8, 1951. He will be pushing 70 when the next president takes the oath of office on January 20, 1953.

As of today, the president is still somewhat in the mood that the letdown immediately after his sensational upset last November found him.

On the campaign train, returning victoriously from Kansas City to Washington, an aide of the president assured correspondents Mr. Truman would not run again.

"Can Be Sure Of That"

He said confidently: "You can be sure of that."

Twice since then the president has made references to his successor. At the White House correspondents' annual dinner last winter he referred to "the next man" who would fill his shoes, and more recently he told a group of teen-age girls he couldn't promise them a job as ambassador five years hence because "my term will have expired then."

Mr. Truman has two main goals: Continued economic prosperity at home and the prevention of a third world war.

If he can achieve both during his administration, he feels that he will have made his mark in history.

The outcome of both of these vast and pressing problems will have marked bearing on his decision whether to stand for election in 1952.

The matter of health—barring the unpredictable—is today no consideration. The president's physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, says he has the health and stamina of a man twenty years his junior.

Not Following Coolidge Plan

One thing his aides say, is certain. He is not going to follow the pattern of Calvin Coolidge.

It was in the late summer of 1927 that Coolidge made to reporters the carefully turned phrase:

"I do not choose to run again."

On the surface, Mr. Truman and Coolidge are in precisely the same position. Both came to office in vice presidential succession on the death of a president.

Both served part of a term and then a full elective term.

But the president feels he is not in the same position as Mr. Coolidge. He does not feel that he has to say "I do not choose to run."

In the first place, he was recalling that Coolidge served something like a year and a half in his first term after President Harding died.

In the president's position, he served all but three months of a full first term. His nearly full four years were among the most critical postwar periods in the country's history.

The other part of his thinking is that 1952 is yet a long, long way off.

UKELELES RETURN

NEW YORK — The ukulele, standard equipment of the really "hep" college boy in the 1920's, is making a comeback. Jay Kraus, president of a company which makes ukes, says about 300,000 instruments will be manufactured this year compared with 40,000 to 60,000 before the war.

Rear Adm. Thomas B. Inglis

REAR ADMIRAL Thomas B. Inglis, director of Naval Intelligence, testifies before the Naval Court of Inquiry, in Washington, investigating the origin of the recent charges against the B-36 program. Adm. Inglis declared his department had never conducted any probe to determine the source of the "anonymous document" attacking the program. (International Soundphoto)

USE CHEESE

Watch the temperature when using cheese in a dish. High temperatures of too long cooking tends to make cheese stringy and rubbery.

Forest Fire In California Area

KING CITY, CAL., Sept. 9.—(INS)—About forty persons were stranded in the mountains of Los Padres National forest today by a forest fire started by a blaze at the summer resort of Tassajara Hot Springs, 50 miles northwest of King City.

The fire was reported still out of control.

However, Charles Wartz, U. S. Forest Service district dispatcher, said it was believed none of the stranded 40 was endangered by the flames. Burning of several highway bridges prevented evacuation of resort guests.

Cause of the blaze at the resort was not immediately learned.

Wartz said the resort hotel and a few cabins were destroyed and that the fire spread to adjoining forest and brush land.

The blaze broke out about 3 p. m. yesterday and raged out of control. Wartz reported that the region around the summer resort is largely uninhabited. He expected that it would take about two days to bring the fire under control.

Political Leaders Will Watch Special Election

HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Both state and national political leaders will follow closely the voting in the special Congressional election in the 26th District Tuesday during the primary election. . . . The balloting will fill the vacancy caused by the death of Congressman Robert L. Coffey, Jr. World War II air ace, in a jet plane crash last spring. . . . The late congressman's mother, Mrs. Robert L. Coffey, Sr., is the Democratic candidate and is opposed by Republican John P. Saylor, a World War II veteran. . . . The outcome of the election, the first to fill a Congressional seat since the 81st Congress convened, may well carry portents of the 1950 elections. . . . The 26th District is composed of Cambria, Armstrong and Indiana counties, industrial and farming areas. . . . The Republican state organization has sent its top men into the district to steer Saylor's campaign. . . . Mrs. Coffey's campaign is being pushed chiefly by AFL and CIO political experts. . . . An extensive registration campaign resulted in gains by both parties, although Democratic registration increases far outstripped those of Republicans who hold a 17,000 edge.

The State Game Commission has always claimed its propagation practices are the best. . . . Game officials received further proof of that fact recently when Commissioner Ernest S. Clements of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries visited Pennsylvania's wild turkey farm near Montoursville. . . . Clements was so impressed that he plans to establish a wild turkey farm patterned exactly after the methods employed at the Commonwealth's plant. . . . He explained that the setup was the best he had seen in visiting several states to obtain ideas on how to build up Louisiana's wild turkey population.

The Department of Internal Affairs is working on a project which it believes will aid local government officials in finding answers to their problems. . . . The department's research division is preparing a 60-page booklet entitled "state sources of information relating to Pennsylvania local government". . . . The publication list all state offices with a summary of their duties and the laws under which they operate. . . . The booklet will be available for free distribution to local officials within a few weeks, according to Elizabeth Smedley, research assistant.

Although approximately only two-thirds as long as the eastern extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike, the western leg from Irwin to the Ohio line. . . . The eastern section, 100 miles from Middlesex to King of Prussia, near Philadelphia, is estimated to cost $87,000,000. . . . The western extension, a distance of 67 miles, is expected to cost between $75,000,000 and $78,000,000. . . . The difference in mileage costs is accounted for by the terrain over which each section will travel, according to turnpike officials. . . . The eastern leg will have only one major bridge—across the Susquehanna—and will traverse relatively flat country. . . . The western section will have three major spans—across the Allegheny and Beaver rivers and an aqueduct across Brush Creek—and will be pushed through rolling terrain. . . . The rolling countryside of western Pennsylvania will require more cuts and fills in addition to many small spans across ravines and hollows. . . . The original turnpike, 160 miles between Middlesex and Irwin, was built in 1939-40 at a total cost of $71,000,000. . . . In comparison, the eastern and western legs, a combined distance of 167 miles, will cost approximately $165,000,000—nearly $1,000,000 a mile.

Mrs. Bernice Baier Discusses Workshop

School Nurse Tells How Pupils Can Be Educated To Dangers Of Tuberculosis

Mrs. Bernice Baier, RN, county school nurse, was chief speaker at a meeting of city and county school nurses and health workers at the Tuberculosis office Wednesday night. . . . The meeting was under the direction of Mrs. Jane M. Cochran, executive secretary of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society. . . . Mrs. Baier attended the rural health workshop for nurses and teachers at Pennsylvania State College this summer and gave an account of how the students in the schools can be educated to the dangers of tuberculosis and other diseases and how they in turn can educate their parents.

Interest By Parents
She expressed the need of more interest by the parents in the physical examinations given the pupils in the schools and urged parents to be present for these examinations so as to know more thoroughly the care that they need. Pamphlets and papers concerning the health of our school children were brought by Mrs. Baier and are available for the public. It was announced at the meeting by Mrs. Cochran, that plans have been made for the patching of students for tuberculosis in the county schools within the next two months.

TO HALT SPEEDING
CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Sept. 9.—(INS)—Chambersburg police today tried to convince a truck driver that speeding doesn't pay. The unidentified trucker sped through a 35 MPH zone faster than he should have, and was nabbed. A few minutes later he roared back through the same speed trap and was stopped again. He was one of 52 motorists stopped in the trap during the past week. One motorist was clocked at 80 MPH through the 35 MPH zone, police said.

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
(Distributed By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(INS)—As a woman who is a great deal more interested in her privileges than in her rights, I have never been any great shakes as a feminist.

But I swan, the boys are going to make one out of me yet. They certainly do crowd the road when they get a chance, as in aviation. I do not drive an automobile, much less an airplane. But I have been brooding about the lady airplane drivers quite considerably since a small delegation came in to visit me recently.

The delegation called to tell me about a convention to be held in New York Oct. 3 to 8. Now this town is always awash with conventions, attended by thousands of men and women who wear identifying badges and walk as if their feet hurt after the first three days of city concrete.

But this October conclave will be small, exclusive and fairly distinguished and if, after three days, its members walk as if its bunions were bleeding, it will be because they are more accustomed to flying than hiking.

Lady Airplane Drivers
For the October convention will be that of the 99 club, which is the international organization of licensed women pilots.

The lady airplane drivers are meeting here to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the club's founding in a hangar at Curtiss field, Valley Stream, L. I.

Some one cleaned off a mechanic's bench round which the ladies could gather, and someone else rustled up a pot of tea. The late Amelia Earhart presided at the gathering of 26 women pilots who arrived in person in response to a call letter suggesting the gals get together and organize.

It was also Amelia Earhart who suggested the name of the new club, since 99 of the nation's 117 licensed women pilots at that time answered the letter proposing the women band together.

In the intervening years, the 99 club has spread into England, France, Germany, Brazil, Cuba, Canada, Puerto Rico and Hawaii, with a new chapter now forming in South Africa. At least 400 of the international membership of 1200 women are expected at the Waldorf-Astoria for the October convention and anniversary.

Accomplished Pilots
Many of the women coming to the convention are accomplished pilots who served in that little known organization, the Wasps, during the war, who worked in the air ferry service in England, in the Civilian Air Patrol and as test pilots, as well as a dozen other wartime aerial occupations.

Teddy Kenyon, former model, who tested Hellcats, Avengers and P38s during the war, will be here, as well as Betty Gillies, war-time test pilot at Grumman Aircraft, Jacqueline (Jackie) Cochran, who drafted women for the air ferry service in England before the United States woke to the fact its women pilots were jet-propelled, and who later organized the Wasps for Uncle Sam, will be on hand.

Jackie, who still holds more air records than any other woman and most men pilots, as former president of the 99ers is giving a binge for the lady pilots on October 6.

What got my dander up, as the committee told me of its coming convention, is the post-war jobs in aviation open to women pilots.

Don't Even Get Indignant
The lady airplane drivers themselves are so accustomed to being fobbed off as radio and control tower operators, ground and link training instructors, and flying school operators that they don't even get indignant about the fact that the best job a fully qualified woman transport pilot can expect to get with any of the big commercial flying lines is as a hostess handing out pink pills to pale people or lunch trays to traveling salesmen with stolid stomachs.

The only 99er flying a commercial sky wagon today is Mary Morrison, of Short Hills, N. J., who is co-pilot on a line running non-scheduled trans-U.S. flights.

I don't know why I should get indignant that a woman like Betty Haas, a former Wasp who owns and flies her own F-39, should now be a hostess on Pan-Am's Atlantic division, but I sure am.

Betty Pettit of Indianapolis, earns her living as a sky-writer, the only one of her sex in this highly restricted field. And Betty Gillies is permitted to test jet-propelled "fireballs" for the Ryan Aircraft company, out on the West Coast.

Nancy Hopkins Tier, a charter member of the 99ers, is colonel and head of the Civilian Air Patrol in Connecticut. And Katherine Stinson of Chevy Chase, Md., is an aeronautics engineer with the Civil Aeronautics Authority in Washington, D. C.

But on the whole, if the ladies really want to fly, they have to fly for fun, in the main, or so it seemed to me as the story unfolded.

They are permitted to run airports and teach men to fly. But they must be good little girls and not ask for flying jobs in commercial aviation. That ain't nice. The boys have all the jobs sewed up.

And, for the life of me, since I don't drive an airplane, I don't know why I'm indignant. But I do think the boys might move over!

Women Of Moose Plan Chapter Night

Some Of Members Planning To Attend State Convention At Uniontown

An interesting session was conducted Wednesday evening when Women of the Moose met at the Moose Home for their business meeting.

Senior Regent Mrs. Charles Jameson presided over the meeting. During the session it was decided that members of the organization will sign again this year for membership with the New Castle Hospital Guild.

Another topic of interest that was brought to attention during the meeting was the resumption of the organization's bowling teams. Members will meet on Tuesday, September 13, at 2 o'clock at the Neshannock bowling alleys and will be under the supervision of Senior Regent Mrs. Charles Jameson.

A hanky shower was held for Junior Graduate Regent Mrs. Edwin Fisher in honor of her birthday occasion.

Approximately 12 women of the Women of the Moose are planning to attend the state convention which will be held at Uniontown September 29-30 and October 1-2. Senior Regent Mrs. Charles Jameson is the New Castle delegate to the convention.

September 21 will mark the next meeting of the organization. This will be Publicity Chapter Night, under guidance of publicity chairman, Mrs. Mabel Owens. Initiation of new candidates will be featured under the supervision of Senior Regent Mrs. Jameson.

Composing the publicity committee will be Mrs. Cecelia Jackson, Mrs. Alvin Herberg, Mrs. Mabel Schell and Mrs. Fay Pitzer. A special executive committee meeting will also be conducted at the next regular meeting. This will start at 7:30 p. m.

Another entertaining feature scheduled for the next meeting is a white elephant auction which should be of interest to the Women of the Moose.

Priests Reject Proposal From Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The majority of Czechoslovakia's Roman Catholic priests flatly rejected Thursday a government proposal to "communize" the church by linking it with the existing regime.

In a formal communication, the clergy announced its refusal to "better" its "social position at the cost of freedom."

A Catholic spokesman announced that most of the priests in 70 per cent of Czechoslovakia's vicarates have signed form letters documenting their firm stand.

The priests expressed a desire that increased salaries offered to them under the government project be distributed among the workers and pensioners of Czechoslovakia.

The spokesman, who declined to be identified, said that letters are still pouring into the central action committee. He added that practically all member of the Catholic clergy are expected to sign them.

The priests also criticize the government's plan to appoint churchmen to positions in the hierarchy.

The government measures are included in a bill pending in the Communist-dominated Czech parliament. If the government decides to press for its passage, there is little to prevent the measure from becoming law.

Good Taste

A GOOD CONVERSATIONALIST

One of the most frequent questions in my mail is—"How can I become a good conversationalist?" In a group of intimate friends, I am entirely at ease but let several strangers come in and I am tongue-tied—can't think of a thing to say.

Answer: People are more interested in acquiring poise and conversational finesse than any other social asset. And small wonder! The poised person makes not only himself happy but creates ease and camaraderie in all gatherings. The shy, timid person, on the contrary, infects all surrounding him with his uneasiness. Timidity and self-consciousness can be conquered.

Some of the world's greatest men and women have had to overcome these handicaps. Beethoven and Tennyson, for example, suffered for years from timidity among strangers... yet both overcame this deficiency and became noted conversationalists.

There is no "sure fire" way of developing the shy, sensitive retiring person into a brilliant talker but he can help himself in overcoming this difficulty by exercising his will power to assert himself. Then he will soon forget all about his shyness. Concentration on one's shyness will but increase it. Concentration, instead, should be upon the other guests and what is being said by them. This technique requires constant effort, but it will eventually succeed. During the process of developing poise and ease mingle as much as possible with people and if necessary force yourself into conversation. Eventually, you will learn to enjoy it, especially if during your turn at speaking you refrain from talking about yourself and from being too opinionated. In social gatherings, avoid political, religious and racial controversy as you would the plague.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers, enclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

New Rubberized Streets Being Tried In New York City

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(INS)—If New Yorkers find their automobiles extra bouncy and their step extra springy today, they can blame it on the city's new rubberized streets.

Six stretches of the city's busiest pavements are today being resurfaced with a new asphalt mixture containing a special rubber compound.

Its purpose, according to the U. S. Rubber company and Manhattan Borough President Huger Rogers, is to resist cracking in winter, soften in summer, prevent water seepage, and lower the city's street maintenance bill.

Homewood Church Plans Homecoming

Plans are underway for the annual homecoming service of the Homewood Methodist church in Beaver county on Sunday, September 11 at 2 p.m.

The pastor, Rev. William R. Wight, who is serving the church for the tenth conference year, announces that this may be the last homecoming to be held in the present building, due to the fact that a part of the western extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike is slated to be built on a portion of the ground where the present church now stands.

The service which will be preceded by Bible school at 1 p.m., will attract many former and present members of the church. Following the service, the annual Garner reunion will take place. A gift will be given to the youngest and oldest person and to the one coming the longest distance to attend the reunion.

Urges Millions For China Aid

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger, retiring commander of the U. S. Asiatic fleet, on Thursday endorsed a proposal that this country provide up to 75 million dollars to halt Communist advances in China.

However, he told senators that the money should not be made available to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to spend as he saw fit.

The admiral testified that the money should be spent at the discretion of President Truman and then only after Chinese anti-Communist leaders submit a plan for its use which the administration approves.

Badger testified before a closed session of the combined Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committee which is considering the administration's foreign military aid bill.

YWCA Offers Aid And Fun To Women, Needs Chest Help

Recently a 19-year old girl stepped off a bus in New Castle at four o'clock on a rainy, dreary morning. The town was completely strange to her and under those conditions New Castle is not exactly the most appealing sight in the world. She was travel weary and broke.

The girl's mother had died of cancer, her father had been killed in a railroad accident. Her only relative lived in California and was not a correspondent. She had come to New Castle to find employment in a home or restaurant. She needed help and a friend.

A local church worker heard of the young lady's plight and called the YWCA. The reply of the YW secretary concerning the organization's desire to help a girl in such circumstances was "Of course, send her over and we shall do what we can."

Whether the story has a happy ending or not is immaterial. The fact is that the city of New Castle has an organization standing ready and waiting to help travelers in any way possible, the Young Women's Christian Association.

Acting as an agency of the Travelers' Aid is only one of several important functions performed by the YW for the betterment of the community.

Has Girl's Camp
Camp East Brook, the YWCA camp, was open this year for 43 days, beginning June 21 and closing Sunday, August 7. A total of 166 campers enjoyed the facilities available along the Neshannock during the camp season. As usual swimming was the chief attraction but singing, croquet, hand-draft, dramatics, and other sports all had their place. Camp life not only offers to the young girls of the county a chance to enjoy formal sports with more of their own kind, it is also an experiment in democracy. Girls live in very close association. They learn not only the give and take in the play of life, but also the sharing of responsibility for work to be done.

The camp facilities are also utilized by various community groups for picnic suppers and week ends. Even until late fall, the buildings are available for those who wish to enjoy the cool breezes on the top of the hill, or see the Neshannock valley clothed in its multi-colored fall wardrobe. The YW has a policy for such outings only because it wants to do its share to make this community a better place to live and to allow its residents to better enjoy the reasonable privileges that are available in the immediate area.

Mother Advises
The YWCA has a residence which accommodates 19 girls in single or double rooms. Laundry facilities, the telephone, third floor kitchen, and the parlor are available to the girls who make the Y their home. A house directors stays right in the residence and is a mother to all the young ladies. She talks with them, hears their problems, and very often is called upon for some friendly advice. A few quotes taken recently from the girls who are actually staying at the Y shows what kind of a job is being done there. Evelyn, "I came to the Y when starting to work in New Castle. I was ill and homesick. Everyone was so good and kind to me." Anastasia, "If you can't live at home, this is the best place." Eleanor, "I hate to leave but hope to get work and be back soon, I'll miss all the girls."

The YW offers many small services in the way of public information to all those who inquire at the main desk in the lobby. It could be in no better location to meet these requests than its present location on the Diamond. Any help that can be given, whether or not it is normally considered in the realm of YW work, is offered in a friendly, cheerful manner.

Perhaps the most publicized of all YW work is the many clubs and classes that function through it. There are organizations for all types and ages of women in the community that offer instruction and fellowship for those who seek recreation and learning in a healthy, Christian atmosphere.

3,000 Participate
More than 3,000 women and girls participated actively last year in the social and recreational program of the YWCA. An effective YW program is one of the most potent factors in developing girlhood into finer womanhood. In order to carry out its program, the YWCA received somewhat less than $10,000 from the Community Chest last year. SHELTON GANG MEMBER SHOT AND WOUNDED

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 9.—(INS)—"Little" Earl Shelton, member of southern Illinois' notorious Shelton Gang, was machine gunned and critically wounded early today in front of his Fairfield, Ill., home.

Shelton, nephew and bodyguard of "Big Earl," the gang leader, was rushed 70 miles by ambulance to Deaconess Hospital in Evansville. Officials there said he was in only "fair" condition and still was in the operating room shortly after 4 a. m. (CST).

A hospital official said Shelton was hit by five bullets. The thirty-four-year-old mobster was shot as he drove up in front of his home. Machine gun fire from an auto parked across the street riddled his vehicle.

Shelton drew his pistol and emptied it at the other car and a second machine gun opened fire on him as the auto sped away. At least 20 bullet holes were counted in the gangster's automobile.

Shelton's wife, Eleanor, a mother of two, was in the house when the shooting occurred. She ran out and found him still holding his smoking pistol and muttering an auto license number.

The number was traced to a Charles Harris of Carmi, Ill.

How Much Privacy for the Youngsters?

Though most of us as grown-ups feel that we have the right to privacy, we often don't permit it to children and young people still living at home. The mother who would be horrified if her daughter opened a letter addressed to mother or father, feels perfectly justified in reading letters received by her children. Other parents insist on a detailed report of telephone conversations.

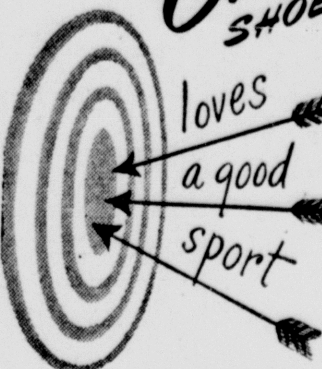

As children grow older, they resent more and more this invasion of their privacy. It seems as though parents don't trust them. They feel as if they were still being considered as little children. From the very beginning of the time when youngsters are able to distinguish between what is theirs and what belongs to others, it is desirable for us to treat them as we would have them treat us. If we want to use something belonging to them, we should ask for it just as we would want them to ask for something belonging to us. And we should not expect them to share the contents of letters and phone conversations with us as a matter of course.

The sooner children realize their rights are respected, the sooner they develop a real respect for the rights of others.

49 Milk Production Tops Output In 1948

HARRISBURG — While milk production from Pennsylvania dairy farms so far this year has been substantial, above the same period last year, the number of milk cows on farms was only one per cent higher this June than a year previous, according to Federal State surveys announced by the State Department of Agriculture.

The number of cows being milked this June on Pennsylvania farms is placed at 965,000 compared with 953,000 in June 1948, the survey revealed. The total includes heifers that have freshened for the first time, the department explained.

In the past seven years the highest number of milk cows in June was 971,000 in 1945. The low point was 90,000 in 1943. Numbers advanced to 943,000 in 1944. After peaking in 1945 they dropped to 952,000 in 1946, advanced to 960,000 the next year and dropped again in 1947 to 960,000 cows being milked on farms in June. There was another drop in 1948 followed by an advance this year.

Kills Woman With Hatchet

Long Beach, Cal., Man Tells Police He Killed Another Man's Wife

LONG BEACH, Cal., Sept. 9.—(INS)—A 37-year-old Long Beach clothes presser told police today that he killed another man's wife with a hatchet while she slept "because she wasn't faithful to me."

Billy James Irvin gave himself up to police at the insistence of a friend, then led them to the home of Mrs. Josephine Kofahl who was found dead in her bed.

The nightgown clad woman had been struck in the head five times with a hatchet.

Detectives Harry Finch and James Thiele said Irvin, who gave Mrs. Kofahl's home as his address, then produced the murder weapon, a narrow-bladed hatchet.

The officers quoted him as saying he arose yesterday morning and started to fix coffee, then "got to thinking things over about her running around with other men."

They said he told them he went to the garage and got the murder weapon. He was quoted as saying, "I crept into the room while she was asleep and sunk the hatchet into her head. To make sure she was dead, I pressed the blade down into her brain."

Irvin said he had been occupying a back bedroom at the Kofahl home, known in Long Beach as "Casa Le Los Amigos"—"House of Friends"—since the woman's husband, William, left a year ago to take an oil drilling job in Saudi Arabia. The detectives said he added:

"Recently I became jealous because she wasn't faithful to me."

Irvin said that after the slaying he went out to breakfast, visiting in several cafes and seeing some friends.

Wounded Americans Questioned In Canton Shooting Mystery

CANTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Baffled Chinese police questioned two wounded Americans today about the fatal shooting in Canton of their mutual friend, a British exporter.

Harold Harris, Shanghai-born manager of the International Supplies Corp., was found dead yesterday morning in the Canton home of William Freeman, vice president of the firm.

Freeman, and another American, Leonard Clark, lay nearby, with bullet wounds in their chests. Freeman's wife was not home when the shooting occurred.

Officials said today that the "disorderly" condition of the Freeman home indicated that a furious struggle preceded the triple shooting. They said all three men were shot with Freeman's .32 calibre pistol.

Attempts to identify fingerprints on the weapon were fruitless since the pistol was handled by Freeman's Polish-born wife when she arrived home. Officials said that she had the two wounded men removed to a local hospital before sending for the police.

Consultative Assembly Of Europe Votes For Establishment 65-1

STRASBOURG, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Belgium's Paul-Henry Spaak ended the first session of the consultative assembly of Europe early today with the declaration that it is the "first European parliament."

Before adjourning their final session, which lasted after midnight, the delegates voted 65 to 1 to establish a European court of justice to discourage violations of human rights.

Eighteen delegates abstained from voting on the resolution.

The court of justice will require the approval of the committee of ministers, which may some day become the upper house of a government of western Europe.

The committee of ministers, scheduled to meet later this month, also will have to pass on the consultative assembly's proposals for easing the European dollar shortage.

The court of justice was advocated by a resolution recalling the Nazi concentration camps and warning that never again must people be placed "on the road to Dachau and Buchenwald."

SIX ORTHOPEDIC CLINICS PLANNED

HARRISBURG — Orthopedic diagnostic clinics for crippled children have been scheduled during Pennsylvania Week, October 17 to 24, and will continue in October, it was announced today by Secretary of Health, Dr. Norris W. Vaux.

The clinics have been arranged by the Crippled Children's Division of the Pennsylvania Department of Health. Each clinic is conducted by an orthopedic surgeon who makes recommendations for the care and treatment of the patients examined. Other personnel in attendance will include a nutritionist, a public health nurse, supervisor and staff nurses, shoe-maker, appliance maker, physiotherapist, and a secretary.

It is the purpose of the clinic to examine all crippled children who are in need of attention and are not receiving it. In providing this diagnostic service, the state department of health cooperates in many counties with the Pennsylvania Society of Crippled Children and Adults, War Veterans' organizations and the service clubs.

The schedule of clinics follows: October 18—Sharon, C. H. Buhl hospital; October 19—New Castle, Jameson Memorial hospital; October 20—Bedford, Community Building; October 25—Greensburg, State Clinic Rooms; October 26—Punxsutawney, State Clinic; and October 27—Altoona hospital.

Governor Dewey Considers Plea For Guard Troops

Violence Develops In Connection With Bell Aircraft Strike In Niagara County

ALBANY, Sept. 9.—(INS)—New York's Governor Dewey gave urgent consideration today to a plea from county officials to call out National Guard troops to quell violence in the Bell Aircraft strike.

Yesterday marked the second consecutive day in which "flying squads" of strike sympathizers and non-strikers clashed at two points in Niagara county. A total of 29 persons have been injured. The union involved is Local 501 of the United Automotive Workers (CIO), which has been on strike against Bell for 13 weeks.

The governor prepared to meet with Niagara and Erie county officials and leaders of the striking union in his Albany headquarters. He has chartered a special plane to fly the men to the state capital. Albany sources said the governor will tell union officials the state will not tolerate further "lawlessness", such as beating of plant workers, stoning of cars and buses and the blocking off of public highways.

He is believed ready to tell the local law enforcement officials that the state expects them to use every ounce of their power to end the disorders, without the aid of state police or the National Guard.

Dewey reportedly does not want to order out the National Guard prematurely, but it is believed he will have little choice if the Bell violence continues.

Nearly 11,000 Licenses Sold

Dog Licensing To Reach New High For 1949—Many Dogs Unlicensed

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

This year will show a new high in dog licenses sold by County Treasurer Don I. Neal. With over three and a half months to go, the total is now a shade under 11,000, 10,968 at noon Thursday to be exact.

Not so long ago the totals would reach 8,500 or 9,000 in a year. Then it reached 10,000. Hunting season will probably increase the total to far over 11,000.

In spite of the large total there are still many unlicensed dogs in the county it is thought. If every poach in the county were tagged the total would probably run over 13,000.

JAIL ENROLLMENT HIGH

The enrollment in the county jail at the present time is the highest it has been in years. At noon Thursday 35 men were getting their bed and board from the county but of the total not a woman was shown on the record. Points a moral of some kind or another.

FICTITIOUS NAME CHANGES

Under a new act passed in 1949 there is a slight change in the fictitious names act. For many years it was necessary to register the name of the real owner where a fictitious name was used as the business title.

The new act provides that where a business moves its location and a fictitious name is used, the change of address must be registered with the Prothonotary John A. Edgar and also with the state.

For example, if John Doe owns a bologna business and operates under the name of Allsteel Bologna Company his name must be registered. If he moves from Herford street to Black Angus boulevard he must also register the change of address.

Man Is Killed By Policeman During Encounter

SUFFERN, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(INS)—A 39-year-old advertising man, medically discharged from the Marine Corps, was shot and killed by a policeman Thursday after a riot in an all-night diner.

The victim was Lee Graves, who formerly worked for two nationally-known advertising agencies and more recently had been a free-lance ad man.

Police said he went berserk in the diner when the counterman refused to serve him a beer, and injured three persons including the officer who killed him.

An excited customer who raced three blocks for help said: "There's another Camden going on."

Police Lieut. William A. Crouse, who answered the call, said he found the inside of the diner a shambles. He said the enraged veteran had struck the counterman over the head with a sugar bowl, broken a ketchup bottle on the head of another customer, and thrown a heavy cash register through the door.

When Crouse entered, Graves stood at bay with a heavy metal chair.

The officer fired a shot at the ceiling and Graves hit him with the chair. Crouse then shot him in the leg, but Graves paid no attention to the wound and brought the chair down on his head.

Then, Crouse said, he fired a third time and killed Graves.

Truman's Experiment Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright—1949—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—The following is an impartial report as to what the Truman Administration is attempting to do to prevent further unemployment.

The plan is not as radical as Mr. Roosevelt's experiments—most of which failed. However, it seems to most Republicans like the fire department theory.

The President's friends would use a city fire department as an illustration of what they are trying to do to stop a business conflagration. A fire department does not prevent fires from starting, but it prevents them from spreading. The fire chief waits until a fire starts and then rushes to it and puts it out.

If you divide the annual cost of any fire department by the number of fires—at first thought the department seems inefficient. Every city spends $1,000 to put out a $500 fire. Yet, without the fire department, that little fire would grow and perhaps burn up the entire city. Hence, I believe that the fire chief is the most useful and important citizen of every city. They should be paid more money.

Apply Unemployment To Fires

The Truman program is based upon a similar theory. If unemployment starts in a certain state—as it now has in Massachusetts and Rhode Island—the President wants to rush aid to that section immediately and stop the spread of that unemployment to other sections. To a certain extent the President is right in this theory.

When the textile and shoe workers of New England are idle, their purchasing power is cut down. This causes other plants elsewhere to lay off employees. Then unemployment increases all over the country like an epidemic of flu. On the other hand, if enough government orders and aid are rushed to these sick places, the unemployed would go back to work and would again buy goods. This helps every other part of the country. At least this is the Truman theory.

ory. Whether or not it will work no one knows; but it seems worthy of trial.

Fires Run In Cycles

There is one feature about the fire illustration concerning which Mr. Truman's friends don't like to talk. This is the fact that with all the wonderful and efficient fire departments of our country, the total fire losses—over a long period—go up and down according to Newton's Law of Action and Reaction. The best fire chiefs in the world can't control the human element involved in connection with fires.

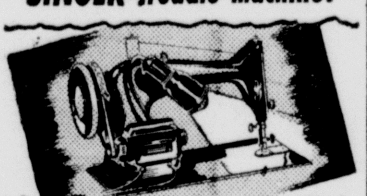

During certain years people are careless and then there are an extra large number of fires. These so increase that the insurance companies—through the National Board of Fire Underwriters and its efficient leader W. E. Mallalieu—get busy and start a campaign to educate people to be careful. This, combined with other factors, bears fruit and fires decrease for a series of years. But people get careless again and fires again increase. Statistics show that fires have their cycle the same as employment, commodity prices and general business.

What About Stocks?

But granted that this Truman experiment will work, and I surely hope it will, fire departments do not build new houses nor start new businesses. Likewise, this experiment of extinguishing a depression at the start "with a bucket of water" will not change human nature and prevent a readjustment sometime. Certainly, the Truman experiment will fail unless labor leaders have a change of attitude. They can set fires faster than any fire department can extinguish them!

All the above means that there is no hurry to buy stocks or bonds. The Truman experiment must ultimately result in higher taxes. This leaves less money for people to invest. The real difficulty with the stock market today is not because of the dividends nor the security, but because investors have no money left to invest after paying living expenses and taxes. President Truman's experiment

Surplus Of Peaches Reported In State

HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The bottom has fallen out of the peach market, the Agriculture department reported today.

Prices received by orchardists do not meet harvesting and packing expenses, thus discouraging picking, the department said.

A surplus of peaches exists due to hot August weather ripening a full week ahead of schedule, and so are competing with peaches from other areas.

The department's farm report also said farm employment is at its early fall peak.

Late potato digging has already begun while some winter wheat has been planted in northern counties, the department reported.

Tomatoes are flowing rapidly into canneries, fall apple harvest is well on the way, and fall plowing is progressing.

Crops made satisfactory growth during the week although the spotty rainfall was only one-third of average for the state, the department said.

Report Hildegard Splits With Managers

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 9.—(INS)—The Milwaukee Sentinel said today it has learned that Chantause Hildegard has split with her long-time managers, Music Corporation of America.

The newspaper quoted Hildegard's personal agent, Anna Sosenko, as saying the quarrel arose because the MCA disregarded the singer's instructions that she be booked at no less than $6,000 a week.

President Would Laugh Red Party Out Of Existence

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—President Truman expressed belief Thursday that the Communist Party in the United States should be "laughed out of existence," instead of run underground by legal prosecution.

The President expressed this opinion to National Commander Clyde A. Lewis, of Plattsburg, N. Y., of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Lewis called at the White House to present his organization's new national program, which was adopted at its recent convention in Miami. The President flew to the Florida city and addressed the convention.

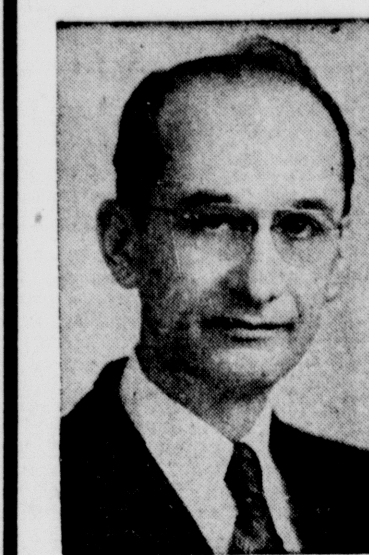

One of the planks of the VFW platform is the outlawing of the Communist party in the United States, by constitutional amendment if necessary.

Lewis said the President told him he did not agree that such action should be taken. Lewis said: "The President said he did not believe the problem should be handled in this manner. He said he thought it better that the Communist party be laughed out of existence."

Senator Aiken Takes Issue On Truman Speech

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Sen. Aiken (R) Vt., thinks that President Truman veered from strict "historical accuracy" in his Des Moines speech Labor Day.

The Republican farm leader angrily demanded that the chief executive "review and revise" his Des Moines remarks.

Aiken, who spearheaded farm legislation in the 80th Congress, came back from the Senate holiday angry about Mr. Truman's blasts at G. O. P. farm policy on such things as rural electrification, the international wheat agreement and soil conservation. Aiken declared, "For instance, the (GOP)-controlled 80th Congress authorized more money for REA loans than had been authorized in the previous 15 years. The President's statement that Republicans are not friendly to rural electrification was simply not in accord with the facts."

"In the interest of historical accuracy Mr. Truman should review and revise his remarks."

No Pressure
Aiken declared that all Republicans voted for the international wheat agreement this year—but that because prices then were high, there "was no pressure from anybody" for it in the 80th Congress.

Likewise Aiken asserted that the President was wrong when he accused Republicans of cutting soil conservation funds—Aiken said Congress cut only production and marketing administration money. Aiken declared: "Mr. Truman demonstrated a complete lack of familiarity with farm legislation enacted by the 80th Congress."

Aiken also accused the President of changing direction within a week by endorsing the Brannan plan in Des Moines after giving the go-ahead signal to congressional leaders on the Anderson farm bill.

Declaring that President Truman once supported the Aiken act which goes into effect January 1 unless new legislation is passed—Aiken said:

"Certainly the President should have the right to change his mind once a year—but he shouldn't change it once a week."

Erie Conference Gives Green Light On Cribbs Home

New $555,000 Home To Be Erected Shortly On Site Near Meadville

Highlight of the Thursday session of the Erie conference at Meadville was the authorization for the building of the Ida M. Cribbs home at the site chosen near Meadville.

Members of the Erie annual conference of the Methodist church were unanimous in their decision to go ahead with the erection of the structure. The board of directors of the Greater Cribbs home was authorized to complete plans, secure estimates and let the contract for the building of the new home.

The new home when completed will consist of a chapel, infirmary, laundry and kitchen and will house 115 members instead of the 70 now living at the old home in Conneautville.

Rev. George H. Palmer of Oil City, campaign director reported that $555,000 had been pledged to ward the new home and of this amount, $337,000 in cash was on hand for its construction. The new home is to be the English Tudor style according to preliminary plans which have been drawn up.

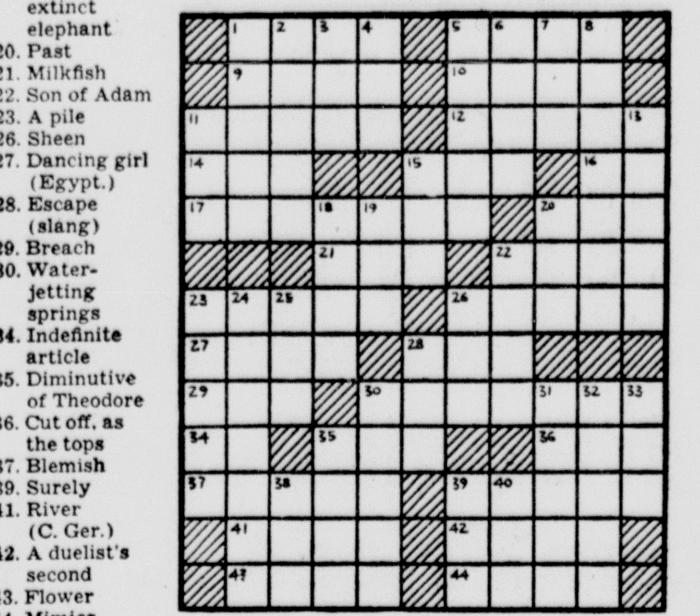

Highlight of the Thursday evening service was the World Service Anniversary at which time, Dr. Russell J. Humbert of Youngstown spoke and conducted the dedicatory service for the Lucius H. Bugbee Memorial library.

Damage Suits Filed As Result Of Donora Smog

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The first of a series of damage suits, which will ask more than two million dollars from a U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiary as a result of the fatal Donora smog last October, were filed Thursday in federal court in Pittsburgh.

Suits totaling $556,000 were filed by Attorney Charles J. Margiotti on behalf of relatives of 10 persons who died as a result of the mysterious smog.

The suits charge the American Steel & Wire Co. was guilty of "willful neglect" in permitting fumes from its Donora zinc plant to pollute the air.

Margiotti said he soon will file for 121 other persons who claim their health was impaired by the deadly smog. These suits will ask damages of $1,487,950.

The attorney said the American Steel and Wire Company will also be named in these cases.

Nineteen persons died within 24 hours last Oct. 30 when the fatal smog settled over the Monongahela valley industrial community. Five later deaths were also attributed to the smog.

Gift Of $50,000 To Grove City Fund

GROVE CITY, Sept. 9.—A gift of $50,000 to the Grove City College Development Fund by the Cooper-Bessemer Corporation, of this city and Mt. Vernon, Ohio, was announced today by John V. Wherry, chairman of the Grove City area committee for the $3,000,000 campaign.

The announcement was made by Mr. Wherry upon receipt of information from Gordon Lefebvre, president of Cooper-Bessemer, that the contribution had been unanimously approved by the corporation's board of directors at a meeting held here this week at which B. B. Williams, chairman of the board, presided.

Team Spirit Born In Camp

It takes a winning spirit to have a winning football team and no coach, even with the locker room oratory of a Demosthenes, can instill the vital factor in his players, unless the boys themselves have already partaken from the fountain of unity and team harmony.

Members of the 1948 Red Hurricane football team will recall the price a team must pay when a small amount of needless dissension is allowed to interfere with the playing of a game. However, for the past 26 years, with few exceptions, local high school eleven have turned in winning records. Under Coach Bridenbaugh, a boy must be able to run, block, and tackle better than any competitor for that position, if he is to make the varsity. However, that boy must also have the proper attitude toward his fellow players or he is not classed as a first stringer.

Last Friday night at YMCA Camp Fred Rentz, a heterogeneous group of hopeful young gridders were welded into a team unit. After two weeks of drill on the field, learning and perfecting the arts of running, blocking and tackling, the real team and the real spirit necessary for a winning season was born, not on the playing field, but in a group assemblage held long after much of the playing equipment had been shipped back to New Castle.

Makes Best Teams
Whether or not the new born spirit will grow and play its vital role in the succeeding Friday nights is a question no one can answer. However, all of the coaching staff will agree that some of New Castle's best football teams have been made on the final night at camp.

The whole procedure is an informal meeting that started out as a stunt night back in the late twenties. All the players with talent or entertaining aspirations were allowed to perform. Gradually, however, talks and conversations turned to football. That is what the boys were at Muddy Creek for and opening game was not too many days away. Instead of singing or telling jokes, the leading spirits of the team started talking about the season ahead. Told how they were willing and ready to really give their best at all times for the good of the team and their companions.

Tradition Established
This set an unusual pattern and soon the stunts were forgotten and the serious portion of the program. Now all that remains of stunt night is the traditional dunking of first-year men in camp. Whether he be a sophomore sensation from a junior high, a distinguished senior for the first time, or a new (Continued on Next Page)

New Castle—Erie Tech Open Grid Season Tonight

Schoolboy Gridders Await Kickoff Time

The curtain goes up tonight on the City of New Castle's greatest annual spectacle, the high school football campaign. More than 12,000 spectators are expected to be at Taggart Stadium by 8:15 kick-off time to see Erie Tech and New Castle High write their own script in 48 minutes of gridiron action.

'Canes Are Ready
Coach Phil Bridenbaugh's 28th Red Hurricane grid machine completed three weeks of preparation for the opener with a light signal drill under the lights of Taggart Stadium Thursday. Nothing could more closely resemble a dress rehearsal than last night's practice session. Trying on new game shoes, new scarlet pants, and hoping that the bright red jerseys would arrive by game time were an important part of the Thursday session.

'Bridy' Pessimistic
A usually pessimistic coach was more than ever the worried director as he expressed fear of the veteran Erie eleven and qualms about the speed of his own team. The visiting Green and White Centaurs copped honors in the five-school intra-city series last year and will field a starting team of nine seniors and two juniors in tonight's fray. Coach Ted Robb's combination single-wing and T offense is spearheaded by a pair of fancy running halfbacks, Duzzier DiNunzio and Don Polagay. Tackle Joe Sienicki and six foot, six inch end Al Murawski are the stalwarts of a big line that averages 185.

The host Red Hurricane will have five regulars from last year in the starting eleven, "Buck Tate, Chuck Abramski, Bear Mangino, Amen Hassen, and Jimmy Altman. Three last year's reserves, Jim Harlan, Charles Mancine, and Mike Banko will take their places as the helmeted 'Canes lateral the ball on their first sweep of the stadium turf.

Bob White and Ray Latsko are up from last year's junior varsity and John Roussous, starting wingback, is a sophomore from Franklin's powerful city champions of last season. Bridy moaned the lack of both speed and experience as his first two teams went through signal drills last night. Every coach is entitled to a certain amount of the crying towel scenes before the opening game but the veteran New Castle head mentor seemed genuinely frightened at the prospects of meeting the veteran Erie club in the initial game.

Stage Pep Meeting
New Castle High student body staged its first pep meeting this morning. The players were introduced from the stage and all agreed that they would rather be in football suits in a tough ball game than face the mob behind the footlights. The band held a stadium rehearsal this week also and director Joe Reppogle has his musicians and drum majorettes ready to give one of the great half-time shows that have become as much a part of the gridiron season as inflated pigskins and referees.

HURRICANE BREEZES
The new uniforms look very collegiate. Large white numbers on scarlet jerseys and plain scarlet pants, with red plastic helmets, make the locals compare favorably with the best college teams in the country in appearance. The actual playing field has been moved about five feet east this season. This is to get the west boundary farther away from the track jumping pits and the fence in front of the steel bleachers. Erie Tech guard, Dick Barber, has an infected knee and may not be ready for much action tonight.

The Yankees, a great home run club and a pretty good one on the road—or they would not have held the lead from the first day of the season until now—play 20 of their remaining 24 games at the stadium.

Tigers Down Indians Twice, Gain Ground On Idle Yanks

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Somebody made an awful mistake. Here come the Detroit Tigers.

The team of no hitting, no fielding and no future was hurtling up the American League ladder today like an acrobat caught in a beehive. Behind the maddened Detroiters lay the stunned carcass of the world champion Cleveland Indians, dropped into a virtual third-place tie with the Tigers through an eye-popping double loss at Detroit yesterday.

Hal Hurlis One Hitter
Hal Newhouse was the man among men in a day of pitching masterworks throughout the majors, planting a 10-0 one-hitter in the afternoon session of the day-night double between Detroit and Cleveland yesterday. But Ted Gray was not far to the rear. He created a four-hitter in Detroit's 4-1 tonight success, and the only run the bewildered Tribe got off him was a Bobby Feller homer.

Cardinals Win
The National League, though, had its pitching moments too. In St. Louis, Harry Brecheen greased a three-hit shutout past the Chicago Cubs, the St. Louis Cardinals winning 8 to 0 to preserve their seemingly automatic one-game edge over Brooklyn.

Brooklyn won, too, of course. The Dodgers jumped up and down on the New York Giants, 12 to 7. In Boston, though, the day's second one-hitter was concocted, this one by Russ Meyer, who had a couple of similar accomplishments while in the employ of the Chicago Cubs.

The Phils won it, 3 to 1.
The A's, behind Alex Kellner and Lou Briesse, extracted both ends of a two-night doubleheader from the Nats, 9 to 1 and 8 to 4.

The Browns lost dutifully to the White Sox and the five-hitting action of Bob Kuzava, 3 to 1. Speaking of foldup ball clubs, the Pittsburgh Pirates dropped their eleventh game in their last 12 tries. Cincinnati came up with three runs in the ninth and won the thing, 9 to 7.

Bessemer Evens Playoff Series

Parlay Breaks And Four Hits Into 6-5 Victor Over Indies Thursday Night

Bessemer evened the City-County playoff series at one game reach by copping the second contest from the Lawrence Indies 6-5 at Flaherty field last night. Bessemer parlayed only four hits into their six runs, but were aided by six free tickets, two hit batsmen, a wild pitch and six Indies errors. They gained an early advantage when leadoff man Peltz was hit and sent to first. Samsa sacrificed him to second. He promptly took third on a wild pitch, and then stole home for the first tally in the ball game. Bessemer was headed only once after this, when the Indies put together five singles and a sacrifice in the fifth to score three runs, and made a walk, two singles, a sacrifice and a fly ball good for two runs in the sixth.

Grubisa Triples
Bessemer grabbed three in the fourth when Anderson reached first as Michalajko dropped a pop fly on the first base line. McCree was hit by a pitched ball, and Grubisa tripled to drive them in, and later scored on Donaldson's single, a bunt laid in front of the plate that he beat out to first and went to second when Semansky threw wild to Mrozek.

The two deciding runs came in the seventh as Peltz was on base when Mosley let a grounder slip between his leg. Samsa was handed a free pass to first and both of them sacrificed by Johnson. A walk to Anderson filled the bases and Peltz scored on a fielders choice.

The series will be resumed next week at a playing site not yet decided. It is felt that twilight ball games would be more satisfactory if the cool weather prevails.

GRAND CIRCUIT meeting will be held at Reading, during the Fair, September 12-16. Corona Hanover, winner of a 25 class conditioned trot at Old Orchard, Me., July 26, is one of the eligibles for the $8,000 Futurity for three-year-old trotters, September 14. Thirteen pacers are eligible for the $4,000 Futurity for three-year-olds, September 13. Police Captain Willis McMullen and the Mrs. are fishing in Canada. One of the features of the mat exhibitions Monday night at Ellwood City, will be an Australian tag match in which Paul Staniec and Tommy Martindale wrestles Jack Vansky and Jack Steele. Chief Don Eagle and Fred Bozie will meet in the main exhibition which will go to one fall, or 60 minutes time limit. There'll be another heavyweight match.

Bernie Hanlon witnessed the Sugar Robinson vs Steve Belloise, New York fight, which Sugar won, which Bernie says he didn't enjoy. Martin Thornton, ex-steplejack, and who in his younger days was a member of the fistcuff fraternity is visiting relatives. He resides at Newtown, Pa. City ten-pin league is getting to roll against the maples, according to Joe Mescall. There was a lot of logic in the Sports Muttering column as to why there should be no Shaughnessy play-off. The Veteran Boxer, 3-Star-Issue, published in Philadelphia, contains a story by Here & There regarding the middleweight feud between Al McCoy, Joe Chip, George Chip, Harry Greb, and Buck Crouse. The article is the main feature of the magazine. Billy Pozza, Ellwood City heavyweight slugger, has resumed training for the fall and winter campaign according to Johnny Loccasiano, manager.

Six Class AA Games Tonight

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Six Double A teams open the 1950 WPIAL football season tonight and the result of one of the games definitely will eliminate a contender.

That's the New Kensington-Duquesne contest at Duquesne which matches two of last season's better eleven. Duquesne, coached by John Donelli and a solid title contender until the tag end of the season, is a slight favorite to beat Don Fletcher's Kensters.

Har-Brack Or Sharon
New Kensington, without Willie Thrower and a lot of other lettermen, nonetheless, is well-regarded by district coaches who figure Fletcher will have an eager, though inexperienced, club.

Har-Brack's Tigers meet Sharon at Sharon and Redstone is at home in Republic with Braddock in other games.

Benefit Game Carded Saturday

There will be a benefit baseball game at Volant field Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, the North County league managers meeting the Lawrence County league umpires.

Both teams have won game. The rubber game should prove very interesting.

Johnstown Again Defeats Erie, 2-0

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 9.—(INS)—Johnstown chalked up two straight last night by shutting out the Erie Sailors 2-0 in the seven-game playoff for the Middle Atlantic league pennant.

Hurler Joe Asbill gave up six hits to Johnstown, and pitcher Harry Hintz allowed five to Erie.

Penn State's 215-pound blocking back, Chuck Drazenovich, of Brownsville, Pa., twice won intercollegiate heavyweight boxing honors.

County High Gridders Ready For 1949 Action

Lawrence county's high school football teams all swing into action this weekend with Erie Tech at New Castle, Bessemer at George Junior Republic and Shenango at Mercer Friday night.

Ellwood City at Erie Strong Vincent, and Darlington at Union Saturday night finish out the weekend football card.

Defending Tri-County champions, Bessemer have little prospect for another undefeated season this year. Players like Perrott and Pezzuolo just don't come along like the trolley. However, head coach Will Ciccone and assistants Al Russo and Bob Glaspey have been drilling a formidable squad for three weeks in preparation with this afternoon's opener at George Junior Republic.

Schaville At Full
Star halfback Moony Schaville has been shifted to the fullback post. August Anderson, a regular end, may play either halfback or out on the wing. Two other veterans, Sam Tiratto and Tom Shulaga will be back in familiar roles, at quarterback and tackle respectively.

Angelo Pezzuolo will probably get the nod at halfback with Don Fanner in the wingback post. Phil D'Arment, a 215-pound tackle will team Shulaga to head the C-cementer defense. Bessemer opens its home card Sept. 24 with Lowellville.

Wildcats At Mercer
Coach Eddie Nahas' Shenango

Wildcats open their campaign at Mercer tonight. The Blue and Gold hope to make up in speed and deception what is lacking in size this year. Mary Duckworth, counted on for a large part of the heavy line bucking duties, will be out for four weeks with a shoulder injury and halfback Dick Kroesen has a sprained ankle for tonight's encounter with the usually big Mercer squad.

Shenango plays its first home game next Friday with Brookfield.

Ellwood At Erie
Ellwood City's Wolverines expect a tough time of it Saturday night in Erie with only three holdovers from last year's first team left. Holdovers are guard Frank Wolfe, halfback Tony DeCaria and fullback Joe Giovannin.

Coach Thurman F. "Dutch" Croft has named Carl Mantz and Lou Canavine as probable starters at the end positions, Thayer and Dukas at tackle, Chiario and Wolfe at guard and Soos at center.

For backfield duty he has Jim Fowler at quarterback, DeCaria at left half, Lou Lopez at right half and Giovannini at fullback.

Good looking reserves include Bob O'Brien and Paul Powell, backs; Tom Biscaglia, guard and Jim Burns, end.

Union Unknown Quality
Union high school opens its regular season with Darlington under the lights at Union high field Saturday night with an unproven but hard working squad.

Phillies Threaten Wholesale Housecleaning In 1950 Season

By TOM R. BRISLIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—Most of the youth-packed Phillies began perusing baseball's want ads today in search of 1950 employment.

The reason:

Manager Eddie Sawyer, a fat

new two-year contract bulging from his hip pocket, gave stern warning that there's about to be a housecleaning.

Only Four Secure

Only four of the present Bluejays—two pitchers, a shortstop and a third baseman—will have no job worries when spring training season rolls around in 1950, according to the affable Sawyer.

All other players, including hard-hitting Del Ennis and the $65,000 bonus pitcher Curt Simmons, will have to scramble and scramble hard for their meal tickets next season.

Relatively secure from having the wolf howling at their doors are:

(1) Veteran southpaw hurler, 34-year-old Kenny Heintzelman, ace of Sawyer's mound staff.

(2) Sensational rookie right-hander, young Robin Roberts, regarded as one of the best pitching prospects in two decades.

(3) The new "Mr. Aches and Pains" of baseball—rookie shortstop whiz Grady Hamner.

(4) Erratic but hard-hitting

Willie Jones, recently a powder keg at the plate and an infielder with a whip-lash throwing arm.

Sawyer declared emphatically that every other member of the Jays is on the market.

Would Trade Ennis

Of the powerful Ennis, a hometown favorite for whom the Phillies paid not a red cent, Sawyer said:

"Ennis could be a greater player

if he wanted to be. He has become a better fielder and improved his throwing since the 1948 season. But it's up to Ennis whether or not he becomes great."

Ennis, incidentally, leads the Phillies' hitters in the all-important runs batted in column. He's also one of the highest paid players on the roster.

Simmons May Go

Simmons, a flop thus far but nevertheless regarded as possessing tremendous pitching possibi-ties, is in the same category as

Ennis, Sawyer said. The Egypt,

Pa., youngster has suffered thus far from lack of seasoning.

Sawyer, one-time college professor, indicated that he believes some of this year's crop of youngsters will improve in 1950 with a bit of experience behind them.

The 1948 rookie sensation, centerfielder Richie Ashburn, is suffering from nothing but the "second year blues," according to Sawyer.

Players like Bill Nicholson, Stan

Hollmig, Mike Goliat and Eddie

Waitkus may bounce back next year, too, Sawyer feels. Waitkus, of course, was going fine this season until he was shot and seriously wounded in Chicago by a love-cracked stenographer.

"Only time will tell about Waitkus," said Sawyer. "The doctors said he'll be okay, but we don't know that until he starts to play baseball again."

Veterans Through

Eddie indicated that there'll be considerable weeding out of older players on the club. That means that veteran Eddie Miller and ancient Schoolboy Rowe and several other "oldsters" may be turned out to pasture in 1950.

But one thing is sure—the Phillies intend to go along with their youth movement, win or lose.

Heintzelman will stay primarily because of the great season he's having this year.

SPORT SHORTS

"I don't want to stay in baseball as an oddity. I want to play as long as I'm good enough. I play hard, yes, but there has never been a minute that I haven't played clean, and there never will be.

Elmer Valo, at 28, is the "baby" of the A's group and the only

Mack outfielder under 30. White, just 30, is next youngest.

Over at Atlantic City race track, there's a girl on a man's errand.

Betty Cox, 25-year-old Barnesboro,

N. J. lass, is an exercise "boy."

A job she acquired during the war and managed to retain.

Affable Eddie Sawyer, manager of the rejuvenated Phillies, is a for bigger, better and more frequent picnics for his players.

Auto Dealers League Ends

Elliott-Waddington Team Wins Championship, Banquet Planned

Last night at the Castle Hills course, the Automotive Dealers' Employees Association wound up its first annual golf league with the Elliott-Waddington team the champions for 1949, edging the runnersup Reiber-Cadillac team, by 3½ points.

Paul Hunt of the championship team was medalist last night with a blazing 37 card, while other low players were—Wayne Harper 41, and Al Matonak 43.

Plan For Banquet

The final standing of the league—Elliott-Waddington 43½, Reiber-Cadillac 40, Chevrolet-Keystones 32, J. R. Rick Motors 31½, Chambers Motors 24, Outlaws 21.

The league members will stage a big banquet in the near future at which time trophies and prizes will be awarded. It is hoped that next year more dealers can be persuaded to participate in the league that has had a very successful first year.

Larry Grumling, manager at Castle Hills course, cooperated with the league 100%.

manager, all must hit the drink fully clothed.

Hardly a word was said all week about the final night meeting. It never appears on the formal camp agenda nor are new comes told to attend. Sophomore hear from the Juniors and Seniors who have been in camp before.

The proceedings would make a deep impression on anyone fortunate enough to attend and the boys, secretly in their hearts and minds, anxiously look forward to the final session.

The coaches found that the first one or two of the serious meetings made a deep impression on the boys and have encouraged such gatherings.

Usually Coach Bridenbaugh or one of his assistants will call the boys into the meeting about nine o'clock. The head coach, assistants, faculty manager, and maybe a close associate of the boys and the team, make short speeches. All stress the importance of unity, spirit and determination in winning football. A leading senior, usually a varsity holdover from the year before is then called-on to say a few words. From this point on the meeting becomes truly inspirational. As succeeding players, including juniors and sophomores are called on, one can feel the fusion of thoughts and common understanding of purpose taking shape in the minds of the boys. Each lad goes on record as saying that he will do his best, that he wants to be a member of a team unit that has in mind winning football games as a group.

By 11:15, the meeting is over and the players quietly file out to their bunks, thinking about what has just been said and knowing that a similar meeting was held when Scooter Day, Bobby Lee, Dynamite Castrucci, Walt Raskowski and Walter Kimo were also sixteen and seventeen-year-olds about to launch a football campaign for the Red and Black.

Like we said, it won't be until sometime after the middle of November that one can determine if the meeting was or was not a success. It does take spirit to win and that spirit was born last Friday.

Moose club just didn't seem to be able to get their batting eyes working against baseball pitching after looking at softball pitching all season. On the other hand, Croton A.C. didn't find much trouble in getting to Maggie and Valentino of the Moose.

Three Hitter

Dom Cook pitched for the Croton A.C. and held the Moose to three hits, two of them by Maggie.

The A.C.'s touched Maggie and Valentino for 10 hits, including a home run by Memo and a double, triple and single by Paris. Valentino was charged with the defeat.

This was a unique game in that while the Moose were in the field a softball was used and when the Croton A.C. was in the field a baseball was used.

Score by innings: R H E. Croton A.C. . . 000 201 3—6 10 2. Moose Club . . 001 020 0—3 3 0.

Batteries: Croton A.C. — Dom Cook and Rico; Moose—Maggie, Valentino and Pia.

Sport Writers Facing Tough Task In Valuable Selections

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—When the baseball writers sit down during the winter to pick the most valuable players of 1949 they almost certainly will come up with an American League and a National League player from the pennant winning teams. This generally is the case anyhow, but it will take the weight of being on pennant winning teams to split apart a half dozen guys for the current season.

Leading contenders at the moment, subject to change on what happens from here to the finish, include Ted Williams and Vern Stephens, of the Boston Red Sox; Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees, and over in the National al, Stan Musial and Country Slaughter of the St. Louis Cardinals, along with Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn.

Williams or Stephens

Paul Williams is having one of his phenomenally great seasons, and can again wind up as leading in hitting, home runs, runs batted in and in other important offensive departments. If he doesn't get it in his league, Stephens probably will, because he is up there too in homers and runs batted in.

DiMaggio really hasn't played enough to earn consideration, but the fellow has been a tremendous factor in the Yankees' stretch drive. From the time he entered the lineup after missing the first 65 games he has been a constant threat and the big punch.

May Waive Rule

It will be recalled that he wasn't actually eligible for the All-Star game, but was in there just the same in tribute to the way he had made his comeback after being out so long with that bad heel. He has a bad shoulder now, among other things, and may not last the season out, but if he contributes heroics and the Yankees win, he will figure prominently in the most valuable balloting.

The agitation already has been started to waive any and all rules—in the event the Yankees come through, so that DiMag can figure in the balloting.

Musial or Slaughter

After a terrible start this season, Musial has come on like a fire-wagon down through the payoff part of the National League race and especially in recent games—when most needed—has been the Cardinals' big gun.

He and Slaughter must be figured in the National League voting. Slaughter has been hitting well up there consistently all year and if not with Musial's power, with more frequency.

Robinson's part in keeping the Brooklyn Dodgers up there may be subject to debate because of his occasional lapses as a base-runner, but this is offset by his over all effectiveness in that very department, plus the league's outstanding batting average. He also has been playing a lot of second base.

Pitchers Overlooked

There is small likelihood of anybody beating out the aforementioned half dozen—not even a pitcher such as Mel Parnell, of the Red Sox, the season's first 20-game winner, who probably will add a few more victories before the race is over.

There will be the same old argument against him—pitchers don't get in enough games. Once in a great while a flinger gets the most valuable award, but generally a run-maker gets the big prize.

And this year the deciding factor more so than ever will be outcome of the pennant races because of their closeness in both leagues.

August 12th President Truman signed into law the Duck Stamp bill, announced Carl D. Shoemaker, conservation director, National Wildlife Federation. The National Wildlife Federation has consistently supported this bill and similar bills in previous sessions of the congress.
